SEEKS TO END TANK STRIKE AT CHRYSLER

WPB Acts to Clear Clouded Labor Picture; ALCOA Men Go Back to Jobs.

AKRON WALKOUT ENDS

Truck Drivers In Six States Quit Jobs In Dispute Over Wages.

(By Associated Press)

A war production board agency undertook today to bring to a quick and peaceful conclusion a strike at the Chrysler tank arsenal in Detroit.

The case was in the hands of the WPB board of review, which was set up under a stabilization agreement with the building trades council of the American Federation of Labor.

H. L. Weckler, vice president of the corporation, reported that 475 AFL construction workers had stopped work at the arsenal on orders of Ed Thal, secretary of the Detroit Building Trades council, in protest against the hiring of some members of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

A work stoppage at a plant of the Aluminum Company of America also drew the board's attention. At the Vernon plant of ALCOA in Los Angeles 300 aluminum workers walked out. CIO officials said the walkout was unauthorized. George W. Taylor, vice chairman of the war labor board, appealed to the men to go back to work now "as loyal and patriotic citizens." The workers quickly voted to return to work immediately.

William B. Taylor, west coast director of the CIO United Automobile Workers of America, said the work stoppage resulted from a company lockout of some skilled workers. The board official intimated in a telegram to the workers that the board's rejection of a wage increase demand was the cause.

A spokesman for an AFL local union said in the capital that a jurisdictional dispute between two AFL unions may "remove thousands of highly skilled journeymen welders and burners "from their jobs in four Henry J. Kaiser shipyards in Richmond, Calif., but the threat of an immediate tieup appeared removed when local 681 voted to ask government aid in settling the dispute.

AFL truck drivers in six midwest states went on strike in a dispute over wage differentials. In Chicago Robert Appel, secretary of the Central States Employers' conference, said the strike was called "in defiance of the war labor board." Drivers in Minnesota, North Dakota, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska were affected.

A five-day strike of 120 band room employes at the General Tire and Rubber company at Akron, ended last night as the strikers voted to return to work

Brave Dutch Tried Hard Against Great Odds to Save East Indies By Stalling Japs and Fighting Sternly

(Editor's Note: Relman Morin was an Associated press and Wide World correspondent through the Far East from Malaya to Japan before he was interned in French Indo-China. Now en route home with other repatriated Americans, he tells here how valiantly the Dutch of the East Indies fought against conquest.)

By RELMAN MORIN

ABOARD S. S. GRIPSHOLM, At Sea—(Wide World)—The Dutch tried hard.

They ran a losing race against time to prepare for war in the Pacific. When war came, they fought a losing fight against hopeless odds. But they tried.

Nowhere in the Orient, through the swift-running months of 1941, was there so much consciousness of danger as in the Netherlands East Indies. Hollanders there were not asleep, nor did they have any illusions about Japan.

They also knew what it would mean to resist. Yet, they refused all compromise.

Perhaps that was because this was home to them. Hollanders never had come out to the Indies only to work and then retire in Europe. They had spent their lives there.

One Sunday afternoon, I was sitting with a highly-placed government officer in his cottage in the Java mountains. We were looking across toward the strategic Poentjak Pass, leading down to Batavia, the capital of the Indies. We had been speaking of the military importance of the Poentjak.

He said, "Yes, we must hold the pass. It may mean holding all of Java, and that's a

Reinforcement Battalion of Foe Wiped Out

30 Enemy Prisoners Taken As U. S. Force Smashes Unit; Radio Installations, Stores, Seaplanes Destroyed In Attack On Makin Isle.

(By United Press)

HEADQUARTERS, UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET, Pearl Harbor—United States Marines killed 842 Japanese and took 30 prisoners in a raid on the Gilbert islands and in two ferocious fights in the Solomons, and it was reported today that they might even now be engaged in new offensive operations against enemy bases.

In the Solomons the marines wiped out one entire Japanese reinforcement battalion of 700 men, killing 670 and taking 30 prisoner, and killed 92 in another fight.

They killed at least 80 Japanese and destroyed radio installations, stores and two seaplanes in their raid on Makin island, in the Gilberts, and guns of the supporting fleet sank a small transport and a gunboat. The president's eldest son, Major James Roosevelt, was second in command.

Japanese planes, sent under emergency orders to aid the enemy forces on Makin island, bombed their own men and installations in their excitement.

The marines lost 34 men killed and 85 wounded in the two Solomon islands engagements which cost the enem, 762 dead and 30 made prisoner, and losses in the Makin island engagement were described as moderate, considering the nature of the engagement which was a daring assault on a strongly-held enemy base in face of direct fire from the beaches.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, announcing the American victories in two communiques issued at his headquarters here said that in the southern Solomons the Japanese had been driven back into the jungle and the hills which rise sharply a few miles inland in the volcanic islands.

There are daily skirmishes, Nimitz said, in which both sides are suffering casualties.

But it was clearly indicated that the Japanese losses were astonishingly high in proportion to those of the marines and that the Solomons offensive had become an historic American victory.

Nimitz revealed that Major Roosevelt was second in command in the Makin raid under Lieut. Col. Evans F. Carlson, of the marines, with Comdr. John M. Haines leading the naval support force. None of the three was a casualty.

Close-mouthed Nimitz in the first communiques he had issued since the first days of the Solomon offensive which opened Aug. 17, made it plain that the United States Pacific fleet, which the Japanese intended to wipe out in their sneak attack, is now active.

Makin is 2,400 miles southwest

WOMEN POLICE, FIRE FIGHTERS UNDER DEBATE

Civil Service Chairman Cites Shortage of Applicants For Municipal Posts.

Women police and firemen to serve during the war emergency are being considered by the Mansfield Civil Service commission which anticipates a shortage of male applicants for various municipal jobs, George W. Biddle, commission chairman, announced today.

In discussing the lowering and raising of age limits for forthcoming examination of men to fill vacancies caused by draft, defense work and other agencies, Biddle declared he and his associates on the commission, W. C. Mansfield and Thomas A. Woodard have considered the feasibility of asking women to qualify for police and fire posts as well as for other positions.

"Two members of the police department have been called to military service and others likely will go," Biddle said. "It is anticipated that at least several firemen will be called. There are indications the commission may be forced to open these fields to women."

Examinations will be held at 7 p. m. Sept. 10 in the municipal courtroom, city hall, for firemen, patrolmen, janitors for the city building and schools, truck drivers and class A labor. Application blanks may be obtained from the commission at the courtroom from 7 to 9 p. m. Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

Age minimum requirements has been lowered from 24 to 22 while the maximum has been boosted from 45 to 50.

Asked today regarding his attitude toward women patrolmen and firemen, Service-Safety Director Fred B. Wolff declined to comment before giving the subject further consideration.

The very best of Indiana's melon crop was served up at the 33rd annual watermelon festival staged by the park association, and hundreds of customers were there to test the Hoosier production.

Eugene Smart's accordion band furnished the music for the occasion. Committee in charge of the event was composed of Harry Bowman, Samuel Berger, Edward Craig, Clyde Froats, Kenneth Ross, Robert Stevenson and Edward Wyllie.

INDUSTRY WILL FIGHT WIDENED GAS RATIONING

Leaders Declare Midwest and Southwest Are 'Drowning In Gasoline.'

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — A spokesman for the petroleum industry war council said today that the oil industry "will fight to the last ditch" to forestall rationing of gasoline in the midwest and southwest.

"We're drowning in gasoline out there," he said. "The industry will do its utmost to keep petroleum supplies moving and avert the need for rationing because of a transportation bottleneck."

This statement came after Oil Co-ordinator Ickes banned the transportation of automotive gasoline by rail in 20 mid-western and southwestern states in order to divert between 3,000 and 7,000 tank cars to hauling fuel oil to the eastern shortage zone.

At the same time a three-man committee of the nation's top war leaders—Price Administrator Leon Henderson, Under-Secretary of War Patterson and Ickes—began work on the knotty problem of whether to ration fuel oil along the Atlantic seaboard this winter.

WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson, who will sit with the committee selected the group to make the final decision and determine what method of rationing should be used if a decision to curtail is made.

Although some officials believed that Ickes' order made the rationing of gasoline imminent in the mid-west and southwest, the petroleum industry representative said there was no agreement among oil experts on this point.

Meantime, Ickes announced two new actions designed to provide

KILLED DURING TEST 'BLACKOUT'

G. F. Solomon, Former Richland Resident, Dies In East; Was Air Raid Warden.

Mansfield relatives of George F. Solomon, former Shelby and Butler resident, had learned today of his accidental death last Tuesday at Browns Mills, N. J., while he was on duty as an air raid warden.

Mr. Solomon, who was 72, was knocked down by a hit-skip driver during a test "blackout" and was dead on arrival at a hospital.

State police took a suspect into custody after a chase through the dark streets. They are questioning a soldier stationed at Fort Dix, near the scene of the accident. The car had no lights and the driver failed to heed Solomon's warning to stop during the test, officers said.

Funeral services were held yesterday and burial was at Pemberton, N. J. Mr. Solomon left Richland county several years ago to make his home in the east.

He was the father-in-law of Mrs. Charles Solomon, 65 Mendota street, and an uncle of Harvey A. Solomon and Carroll Solomon, both of Mansfield. Among the survivors here are two grandchildren, Joan and LeRoy Solomon, children of Mrs. Charles Solomon.

The widow, Mrs. Regina S. Solomon, two daughters, and a son survive. They live in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

ARREST FIVE IN VICE ROUND-UP

Prostitution Investigation Leads to Arrests; Girls Ordered From City.

Pushing their investigation of prostitution in Mansfield in cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, two members of the Mansfield police department, assigned to special detective duty rounded up five persons last night for arraignment today in municipal and juvenile courts.

The arrests were made by Patrolmen Howard Shuck and Herbert Palmer, who have been investigating prostitution in the city since the army requested police to eliminate it from Mansfield. Five other persons were arrested in a raid on a disorderly house last month.

Arrested last night were two Kentucky girls accused of being "suspicious persons," a 13-year-old girl who had run away from home and a man and woman charged with contributing to the delinquency of the 13-year-old girl.

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch warned the two Kentucky girls, one 18 and the other 19, "to leave the city immediately upon your release" after they pleaded not guilty to being suspicious persons. Fines of

'BARBER' NAMED

John Factor Cited With 11 In Huge Mail Fraud.

CHICAGO —(AP)— John (Jake the Barber) Factor, who made millions by his wits, including a few bucks at cards from the Duke of Windsor, faced a federal indictment today charging him and 11 others with a $1,000,000 mail fraud.

Bench warrants issued here disclosed that a 24-count indictment was returned Thursday in Cedar Rapids, Ia., alleging the 12 defendants swindled some 300 persons, mostly mid-westerners, of $1,000,000 since 1939 in whisky warehouse receipt transactions.

Factor, once a barber in Chicago, had the law on his heels for nearly 20 years but it never convicted him. Federal warrants in 1925 charged him with defrauding investors in the Florida land boom, but the charges eventually were dropped.

212 PROMOTED

Marine Corps Officers To Get Lieutenant Colonel Rank.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The selection of 212 marine corps officers, including 11 who are either prisoners of war or missing in action, for temporary promotion to the rank of lieutenant colonel was announced by the marine corps today.

Sportsmen Begin Arriving In City For 2-Day Parley

Ohio sportsmen and men interested in wildlife conservation began arriving in Mansfield before noon today to attend the annual two-day summer conference of the League of Ohio Sportsmen which will have headquarters at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Gov. John W. Bricker, John McSweeney, Democratic nominee for governor, and Don Waters, state conservation commissioner, were expected to be here this afternoon. Gordon H. Ensminger, general chairman, said more than 300 persons would attend the conference sessions.

Delegates and visiting League members were to devote this afternoon and the early part of the evening to entertainment and then turn to their business sessions Sunday morning.

On this afternoon's program were a conducted tour of the Pleasant Hill and Charles Mill lake areas and Mohican State park, trapshooting at the Mans-

SAVE YOUR WOOL

It'll Be Scarce This Winter, Defense Office Warns.

If you have some old wool garments in the clothes closet or attic, don't throw them away.

The Richland county civilian defense office today urged residents of the city and county to repair the garments, make them over, or even ravel the yarn and knit it into other articles of clothing.

Wool will be scarce this winter and every available piece of it should be put to use, the civilian defense officials warned. More than half of the new wool used in the United States has been coming from Australia, South Africa and South America, and most of these sources have been cut off from us by the war.

In a speech and at a press conference here yesterday Gen. Hershey said reclassification of all married men would begin "probably in October and certainly by Christmas."

BOMBERS FIGHT

Reports of Battle Traced to Duel Between Planes.

LISBON —(UP)— Reports of a big battle between German planes and British naval units off Sagres, Portugal, were traced today to a fight between a British bomber and a German bomber.

Naval officers said the British bomber shot down the German bomber over the sea, but its engines were damaged, and, seeing it could not reach land, the crew broadcast an SOS.

The Portuguese navy ordered boats to rescue the British, but a corvette picked them up from the sea and took them to Gibraltar before the Portuguese arrived.

Coffee Rationing Closer as U. S. Restricts Deliveries.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Possibility of coffee rationing appeared closer today with the government ordering further restrictions in deliveries to dealers because of the shipping shortage between this country and Latin America.

The order, issued yesterday by the war production board, will restrict deliveries beginning Sept. 1 to 65 per cent of last year's as compared with the present monthly quota of 75 per cent.

DAMAGE SLIGHT

Gale Hits Gulf Coast Breaking Windows, Sinking Boats.

HOUSTON, Tex. — (INS) — The tropical gale which hit a narrow section of the Texas gulf coast, passing inland, today left comparatively small damage in its wake.

The wind at Port Arthur reached a velocity of 64 miles an hour late yesterday, but diminished as it blew over the land. Some large windows were smashed and some roofs were damaged and a few small boats anchored in the path of the wind were sunk.

POISED: Nazi Mass 800,000 For Stalingrad Crash-Through

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—Front dispatches reported today that the Germans have massed an estimated 58 divisions—possibly 800,000 men—on a 60-mile front at the Don river elbow in an attempt to crash through to Stalingrad.

Under the weight of this great mass of men, the dispatches said, the bloodiest fighting of the war was going on along the west bank of the Don and at points on the eastern shore where Nazi automatic riflemen managed to cross the stream.

Two parties of German storm troops which reached the east bank were said to have been destroyed.

The entire territory between the northern and southern arms of the Don elbow was said to be a battleground and it was admitted that Nazi pressure slowly was forcing the Russian defenders back at some points.

In the Caucasus, front reports said, Nazi reinforcements are arriving to swell the already large German troop concentrations.

The Germans were pressing hard south of Krasnodar, reports said despite constant counter-attacks by Soviet forces. In at least one sector the Russians were again forced to retreat.

However, Cossack troops were holding firmly at most points against Nazi tank assaults

In one sector two German divisions and 40 tanks attempted to overwhelm the Soviet defense lines but were beaten off.

In the loop of the Don river, southeast of Kletskaya and 40 miles west of Stalingrad and the Volga river line, the Germans were doing their utmost to mop up the west bank and establish a foothold on the east bank, from

SURPRISE: FDR Unaware Son Leader In Gilbert Isle Raid

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The part played by a lanky Marine Corps major in the successful raid on Makin island probably was a complete surprise to his father—commander-in-chief of America's armed forces.

A White House spokesman doubted last night that President Roosevelt had advance knowledge that James, his eldest son, would be second in command during the Aug. 17 raid but said he was "sure the president will be delighted."

Secretary William D. Hassett pointed out that although Mr. Roosevelt is commander-in-chief he cannot be expected to know in advance the location of any particular member of the armed forces even if it is his own son.

The Makin raid marked the third time young Roosevelt has been under enemy fire during this war.

While serving as an observer in the Middle East he was exposed to bombing and strafing attacks by Axis planes.

Then, in the battle of Midway early in June, he came under Japanese fire when enemy planes swooped down on the mid-Pacific stronghold at the height of that gigantic battle which resulted in the complete rout of Nippon's 80-ship invasion armada.

At 35, James has had a varied career—a business man, movie producer, politician, and member of the high councils of government. He has been the subject of wide attention in the press since the day he first came to Washington as an aide and confidante of his father.

Camera Does a Big Week's Work

THE NEWS-JOURNAL camera has had a busy week. . . .

In the Sunday edition you'll see the reason. For example, there are pictures of the Legion cadets, trim and snappy in their new uniforms. Photos give you 'before' and 'after' views and text tells you about the functions of the organization.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

(Note: Ray Bolger, star of the Broadway hit "By Jupiter," is an old pal and one of my three favorite dancers in the whole world. So I'm happy to let him speak his piece today with taps on the typewriter, instead of the stage.—D. K.)

Ray Bolger Says—

"Remembering when" is a favorite late-night diversion along Broadway, when the show shops have closed for the night and the crowd gathers to tilt an elbow and bite into a sandwich. We sit around a table at some bistro, and some fragment of conversation or an old gag or a song from some half-forgotten Broadway show will suddenly unlock the flood gates of recollection. Next thing we know, it's dawn and the waiters are pointedly piling tables together to hint that closing time has arrived.

The nicest aspect of this water-under-the-bridge stuff in show business is that you don't need a long white beard to get into the game. Show people start their careers early, and after a decade or so comparative striplings can swap reminiscences with the deft assurance of old gaffers in a country general store.

My own remembering-when goes back to about 1924 when I broke into show business. I remember a song and dance team called "Sanford & Bolger A Pair of Nifties," who made their Gotham debut at the Greenpoint theater and closed after one show . . . I remember playing on the same bill at the old Rialto theater with Ben Bernie, when the Ol' Maestro had considerable more hair. I recall Tex Guinan's club in the days when the late Richy Craig was playing there and foreshadowing the swift comedy patter of Milton Berle and Bob Hope and lots of others . . . I remember when a pretty little Irish girl named Ruby Keeler danced in the chorus and an obscure hoofer named George Raft did the Charleston on the tiny floor. . . . When Clayton, Jackson and Durante had their own club, and I was vainly trying to get a job there.

I remember when Jack Benny and I played Cleveland together and bet daily on the baseball games. Jack always had first pick—but never won a bet! . . . When I was a very minor part of a Gus Edwards revue called "Ritz-Carlton Nights" that had Leota and Lola Lane of the Lane Sisters and Armida . . . When Alice Faye was a beautiful, intensely ambitious kid in the "George White Scandals" of 1931 . . . When Bert Lahr, after closing in a Broadway show, played a vaudeville date in Portland, Me., and the manager said: "Think you're funny? Last week we had a comic named Rubberlegs Bolger who killed the people" . . . Bert told me about it years later between takes on the "Wizard of Oz" set.

I remember when the Rockefellers opened Radio City Music Hall . . . I danced on the bill, before an audience of 6,200 people in white tie and tails, and my wife came backstage and made a remark that picked up all over the country . . . "It's wonderful," she said, "what you can do with a few dimes!" I remember when Milton Berle lent me his mother in Buffalo . . . He was doing a broadcast with no studio audience, so for three wonderful shows I had Mrs. Berle out front laughing and applauding for me . . . When Paul Draper visited our Central Park west apartment and—after our regular shows—we improvised new steps till dawn as my wife played a little song she wrote that was wonderful to dance to . . . The man downstairs never complained; he told me one day in the elevator that the rhythms soothed him to sleep.

I remember my first appearance at the old Palace when it was a two-a-day house and the Mecca of every vaudevillian . . . And I remember, too, the sad feeling during another, later appearance there, when the house had four shows daily and a moving picture besides . . . When a lanky kid named Hal LeRoy came backstage in Cleveland asking for advice on how to become a successful dancer—and the kick of seeing him stop the show in a "Ziegfeld Follies" years later.

I recall how scared I was that the public wouldn't take me doing serious ballet in "On Your Toes," and how the applause at the curtain of the show, when I finished dancing "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" was the last sound I heard before I "blacked out"—from sheer exhaustion.

And I remember appearing at a San Francisco theater with Gus Edwards when a pretty blonde-haired girl came backstage to visit him . . . I hung around making conversation until Gus was reluctantly forced to introduce us . . . Later, Gus asked me why I was so insistent . . . "There," I replied, "is the girl I'd like to marry"—and I did, three years later . . . A few weeks ago we celebrated our 13th anniversary.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Here's a fellow with his heart in his work, Arch Oboler.

Oboler is radio's "genius in a sweatshirt." "Sweatshirt Archie," they called him back in Chicago. He's the arch enemy of the collar-and-tie industries as well as the air lanes' leading playwright.

Coons

His work today is directing a movie. He is wearing no sweatshirt but an old blue suede-and-wool sweater—equally minus collar. He also is wearing baggy trousers, sandals, and abused basket hat and his usual thick-lensed spectacles and completely original haircut. The ensemble makes him look like a Saroyan character who just wandered into the set.

* * *

BUT that has nothing to do with his heart and his work, which is a movie called "This Precious Freedom." It is from his own play which was called the best radio drama of 1941, the story of what would happen to an American family in the event of foreign occupation. Oboler's air plays have attracted an audience of 10,000,000 people, but this movie will reach no more than 1,000,000. It is not for public exhibition, but is being made for General Motors to show its war workers and their families.

"These are the people I want it to reach," says Arch Oboler. "I'm making it for less money than I would ask ordinarily—because I couldn't live under that kind of rule and these are the people whose work can prevent its happening."

It is no secret in Hollywood that Oboler and the studios have not been entirely sympatico. Aside from scripting "Escape" he has done a little for films, though he has been under contract to two or three studios with a "directing clause." He had a year on one lot without an assignment, and quit another after 11 weeks' idleness on a one-year deal.

* * *

THIS may have been due to his insistence that movies should have something to say and say it. He says today that the screen's long habit of "making unreality real" may have been to blame for the country's slow awakening to its danger.

"For so many years Americans have seen movies in which the hero always comes out on top and the villain was foiled," he says. "Is it any wonder that many couldn't believe it, that so many expected to wake up from the nightmare and find the war was over—like a movie on the screen the night before?"

PASTOR FACES PRISON TERM FOR ESPIONAGE

Four Accomplices of Clergyman Given Long Terms In Federal Jail.

HARTFORD, Conn. — (INS) — Convicted of conspiracy to commit espionage, the Rev. Kurt E. B. Molzahn, pastor of the old Zion church in Philadelphia today faced a maximum term of 20 years in federal prison.

A jury of eight men and four women returned the verdict late yesterday afternoon after but two hours deliberation on testimony which required 19 court days in the giving.

Special Assistant Attorney General Thomas J. Dodd, jr., asked the court to impose sentence immediately but Judge Joseph J. Smith ruled otherwise, remanding the clergyman until next Tuesday in order to give defense counsel opportunity to make motions.

Meanwhile, three of Molzahn's four co-conspirators, who had earlier pleaded guilty, were given long terms in federal jail.

They were: Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, erstwhile leader of the now defunct German-American Bund, who received 15 years; Dr. Wolfgang Ebell, El Paso, Tex. physician who was given 7 years; and Dr. Otto Willumeit, leader of the Chicago Bund whose assitance to the prosecution won him a reduced sentence of only five years.

The fifth person named in the indictment, Anastase Vonsiatsky, White Russian and reportedly a Fascist leader, is currently serving a five-year term in connection with the same case.

Kunze, rotund successor to Fritz Kuhn who is also behind the bars, for larceny of Bund funds, faces further government prosecution, being named in two other indictments.

In the conspiracy of which he was convicted Molzahn is charged with using his parsonage as a "post office" through which vital military information was transmitted to Germany and Japan. In addition, it was brought out at the trial, he assisted Kunze in the latter's escape to Mexico City in a futile attempt to get to Germany or Japan.

The defense contended that the cleric, a former officer of the German army during the last World war, was distinctly anti-Nazi and had even refused an Iron Cross.

Most important of the prosecution witnesses in the colorful trial was the Rev. Alexis Pelypenko, Ukrainian priest and self-described "free-lance" investigator for the FBI.

8 GET FINES

Motorists Ordered to Pay $10 On Speed Counts.

Eight motorists drew fines in traffic court yesterday, six on speeding charges and two for driving across yellow danger lines.

Drivers caught in Wednesday night's "hold day" dragnet who were fined $10 and costs each are: Harvey L. Sauder, Norris Haines, Maywood S. Baith, Virgil H. Durbin, Ira D. Lester and Bob C. Gutweon.

Traffic law violators drawing similar fines are Clifford L. Bennett, 200 West Third street, and Leslie W. Tucker, rural Mansfield.

Several speeding cases will be heard before Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch at this afternoon's session of traffic court.

CARS DAMAGED IN 2 MISHAPS

Slight damage was reported in two accidents investigated by the police traffic department last night.

Herschel D. Darr, Loudonville R. D. 2, asserted his auto was damaged when rammed by one driven by Jeff Holmquist, Lexington R. D. 1, at Franklin avenue and Fifth street. Holmquist left the scene of the accident, Darr told police.

The auto of C. W. Baker, Mansfield R. D. 4, sideswiped a taxi operated by William Marzetti, 86 North Walnut street, causing damage to headlights and a fender, police were told. The taxi was parked on Park avenue east when the collision occurred.

WALK-TO-WORK PLAN TALKED

Columbus Confronted With Curtailment of Public Transportation Service.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — A limited walk-to-work program may be ordered for Ohio's capital unless a solution is found to the city's transportation problems, a utility company official predicted today.

Morgan L. Evans, vice president of the Columbus and Southern Electric company, told the city's wartime transportation committee that such action may be necessary, adding:

"The thought among office of defense transportation officials in Washington is that if a person lives within two miles of his work, he needs no transportation service."

Evans said his company, which operates public transportation facilities here, had been ordered by the ODT to reduce the number of buses and street cars traveling the full route of any one line to eliminate parallel routes and to give preference to war industry workers.

Chester C. Cook, city transportation coordinator, said he had been authorized by the ODT to put a limited walk-to-work order into effect, if necessary.

Cook said he would ask city council for authority to put the committee's recommendations into effect as soon as possible.

PLANES CRASH, KILLING SEVEN

Army Begins Investigation of Accident In Louisiana.

BATON ROUGE, La.—(INS)—An army investigation was begun today in the mid-air collision of two bombers and the resultant deaths of at least seven fliers.

Four officers and three enlisted men were known to be dead as a result of the crash near Zion City, seven miles north of Baton Rouge. The bombers collided over a thickly wooded section, one ship plunging to earth and becoming deeply buried and the other bursting into flames as it plummeted into the underbrush.

Officials at Harding field, near Baton Rouge, said the two planes were part of a five-plane formation which was participating in an operation mission. Names of the victims were not immediately released.

Turns Gun On Self After Shooting Spree In Lover's Quarrel.

WARWICK, R. I.—(INS)—A 19-year-old, $85 a week war worker today wounded a man and two women, one fatally, in their parked automobile then killed himself in what police said was "the result of a lover's quarrel."

The assailant was Earl Lagarie who also was dead on arrival at the hospital. The women, divorcees, lived in a small cottage where the shooting occurred.

Police said Lagarie approached the car parked in front of the cottage, fired five shots into it from a .22 calibre pistol and then turned the weapon on himself.

CHECK REPORT KNISLEY GAVE MORE THAN LIMIT IN CAMPAIGN

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The secretary of state's office today was scrutinizing the campaign expenditures of Clarence H. Knisley, unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, when his expense report revealed he had contributed $353 more to his campaign committee than the law allows.

Ohio election laws specify that a candidate for governor is limited to $5000 but Knisley's expense account lists a contribution of $5353 to the Knisley-for-Governor committee. The committee listed expenditures of $8878.

Meanwhile, Walter F. Heer, Franklin county Democratic chairman and another unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate, filed an expense account showing he had spent $3000 of his own money in his attempt to carry his party's standard. The Heer-for-Governor committee received and spent $11,564.

Frank Dye, another unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, spent $249, of which $20 was contributed.

The Republican state central committee spent $2844 in the primary campaign.

PROGRAM SET

30 More Nurses' Aids to Graduate Sept. 9.

Plans for the graduation of 30 more Nurses' Aids Wednesday night, Sept. 9, were completed by the Nurses' Aid committee yesterday at Red Cross headquarters.

Dr. Leopold Adams, chairman of the medical division under civilian defense will be the principal speaker at exercises to be held at the Nurses' Home. Miss Lenore Van Gundia, executive secretary of the Red Cross, will also address the group.

The graduates represent the second and third classes organized by the committee headed by Mrs. George L. Draffan and will raise the number of Nurses' Aids in the city to 49. Nineteen members are enrolled in the second class and 11 in the third, composed mostly of college girls.

Organization of a third class to get under way either in October or November was considered by the committee. The latter has been informed by national Red Cross headquarters that Shelby girls are now eligible for Nurses' Aid training at Mansfield General hospital although they will give the required 150 hours of volunteer service at their own hospital.

Fear Shortage of Teachers to Hit Many Departments

COLUMBUS —(AP)— A teacher shortage this year may force some schools to close departments "most essential" in wartime, says Education Director Kenneth C. Ray.

Ray said 800 teacher vacancies, a large portion of them in northeastern Ohio, may end industrial arts, physical education, business, science, mathematics and vocational agriculture instruction in certain areas.

"This would be most unfortunate, in view of the fact that these seem to be the most essential fields of instruction in wartime," Ray commented.

A coach shortage and a lack of transportation facilities for athletic teams may require other schools to discontinue interscholastic sports and substitute intramural events, he declared.

Boards of education have hired married women to fill some vacancies, he added, and "many more could be employed but are reluctant to accept positions through fear of the effect on the husband's draft status."

Laff-a-Day

"I didn't know they had first-aid courses then!"

Mrs. Ernest Yoakam, 148 Lexington avenue, today possibly is contemplating the futility of keeping a budget. When she left home about 10 a. m. yesterday on a shopping tour a budget bank stood on her dining room table. On her return home at 12:30 p. m. the bank was missing, together with its contents of $18.30. Mrs. M. Remy, a neighbor living at 146 Lexington avenue, told Police Lieut. Carl Kalstein and Patrolman Donald Mitchell that near noon she observed a "nice looking young man" leave the Yoakam apartment and depart in a grey and tan car.

There's a moral, probably, about leaning against lamp posts. Anyway, a Weldon avenue youth today paid for resting too heavily against a whiteway standard at North Main and Third streets last night. Patrolmen John Grohol and Charles Letizia, passing the intersection last midnight noticed the standard lying in the street. On questioning persons standing nearby it was learned the youth, a few minutes before, had caused the pillar to topple. When found he told the patrolmen he "only leaned against it" but agreed to pay the Ohio Public Service company for all damages incurred.

The band is believed to have been placed on the bird at one of the state banding stations to make it possible to follow the migration habits of birds.

BACK IN O.S.R.

Two Fugitives Give Up, Get Six Months More Time.

Two inmates who escaped from the orchard of the Ohio State reformatory Monday were returned to the institution last night but they face only an extra six-months term rather than the customary two-year penalty because they surrendered themselves to Columbus police.

Supt. A. L. Glattke said today that Charles Peacock, 21, and Charles Fair, 18, who escaped Monday were brought back to the reformatory last night from Columbus. No word has been received as yet on three other inmates who escaped from the dairy barns early yesterday.

Peacock was admitted from Greene county on Nov. 21, 1941 to serve from one-to-15 years for breaking and entering. Fair was admitted from Franklin county for juvenile delinquency and is to serve until he becomes of age.

CURTAILMENT OF CIVILIAN USE EXPECTED

Board Warns Sacrifice Must Be Expected Under New Program.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Civilians were confronted today with probable "widespread curtailment" of electricity consumption as the War Production Board suspended or halted work on 85 public and private power projects.

Readjusting its entire wartime expansion enough to reduce the amount of power available for war work as well as essential civilian needs, the board announced last night that its action had "substantially enhanced the probability of widespread curtailment" in luxury uses of electricity.

The revised program, WPB said, gave the green light only to sufficient power projects to assure electricity for war and indirect war production with "a small margin" allowed for possible additions to the present munitions schedule.

Demands of the war program, the board explained, made it impossible "to preserve the standards of reliability of service observed in peace times."

"Civilian inconvenience and sacrifice," it added, "must be expected, particularly during period of drought or other adverse weather conditions or in the event of serious accidents affecting utility systems."

The program provides for a total of 5,500,000 kilowatts of new capacity until early 1944, including 3,400,000 kilowatts for private projects. The 85 projects suspended or halted represented a total of 2,200,000 kilowatts scheduled for operation in 1943 and 1944.

The readjustment permitted construction operations on federal projects and hydro-electric developments which did not call for great expenditure of war materials.

STARTS DUTIES

Mrs. Boyle to Be City Hall's New Receptionist.

Mrs. Garnet Boyle, 601 Bowman street, will begin her duties Monday as receptionist in the office of Mayor W. J. Locke, succeeding Miss Betty Mae Thompson who leaves next week for Fort Des Moines, Ia., to enter the officers' training school of the Women's Auxiliary Army corps.

Announcement of Mrs. Boyle's appointment was made today when she reported for preliminary training. For the last three years Mrs. Boyle had been employed by the Lumbermen's Mutual Insurance company.

At noon today city officials and city hall employes assembled to bid farewell to Miss Thompson, Mayor Locke presenting their collective gift of a cosmetic case.

Gets His Fill Of Knocking Nippon Fliers Out Of Air

SEATTLE—(AP)—Seven months of knocking Jap planes out of the Burma and China skies is enough for any man's nerves, says Robert Neale, one of the famed Flying Tigers.

Neale, credited with downing 13 Jap planes and destroying three others on the ground, came home to his bride yesterday with the estimate that a Flying Tiger's life was the kind that no man could lead for very long.

"Lesss than a year really does it," added the modest airman, with a smiling glance at the bride he left behind shortly after their marriage last summer.

His arduous months at the controls, when a typical working day started at 3 a. m., took his weight from 175 pounds to 147.

Once his plane was shot down. Another time he escaped into a cloud with two Jap fighter planes on his tail and came out of it with 20 bullet holes in his ship.

MARINES TAKE HEAVY TOLL OF FOE IN RAIDS

of Hawaii and 1,275 miles northeast of the Tulagi area, of the Solomons. It is 3,000 miles from the Aleutians where the navy and the army air force are operating against enemy-held bases.

The Makin attack was a complete success. The navy and the marines together devastated an important enemy base on the vitally important supply line to Australia, New Zealand and American - protected Fighting French in New Caledonia.

In the Solomons, in a fight to the death, the Marines first wiped out an entire enemy unit of 92 men who resisted to the last and then disposed of the entire reinforcement force of 700 men who, Nimitz revealed, had been sent in speed-boats to the support of the enemy forces in the Tulagi-Florida-Guadalcanal area

The communiques were:

"No. 7:

"A forec of marines of the United States Pacific fleet made a successful landing on Japanese-held Makin island Aug. 17. The purpose of the expedition was to destroy installations of this enemy seaplane base. This purpose was accomplished in its entirety and the force has been withdrawn . . . "

"No 8.

"Since the initial succesful landings in the Solomon islands by United States force under the command of Vice Adm. Robert Lee Ghormley a period of mopping up in order to consolidate our positions has been in progress.

"The Japanese defenders took to the hills and the jungle to escape our forces. There have been daily skirmishes between United States marine patrols and enemy detachments. In these actions both sides have suffered casualties. . . .

"Of 700 Japanese 670 are dead and the rest prisoners. Marine losses were 28 killed and 72 wounded. . . . "

Aside even from the intrinsic importance of the American victories, informants here pointed to the vast expanse of territory over which the naval and marine forces were attacking as showing the power of the Pacific fleet less than nine months after Pearl Harbor.

It was believed that the Makin attack might prove to be only one of several against Japanese bases, supplementing the Solomons action.

It was evident that the attack, like that on the Solomons had taken the enemy completely by surprise. Now the Japanese do not know where or when the navy and the marines will attack next.

Makin is the northernmost island of the Gilbert group, except for Little Makin island a few miles to the northeast. The islands are British mandated. The Japanese seized them early in the Pacific war.

Nimitz in his communique gave no word of Japanese or United States naval losses in the Solomon islands, but it was believed here that they were heavy on both sides.

However, the United States seemed clearly to have accomplished its objective or consolidating forces in the Solomons and keeping the supply lines open

It was forecast that guerrilla fighting would continue in the islands as it has done for months in The Netherlands East Indies.

U. S. Daylight Raid On Berlin Looms

(By United Press)

LONDON—United States flying fortresses may soon make a daylight raid on Berlin as the result of their astonishing success in raids this week on enemy occupied territory, it was understood today.

There was every indication that, aside from the likelihood of a Berlin raid, the fortresses would increasingly work with the Royal Air Force in a program of day and night bombing which would give German cities no rest.

A British criticism of the fortresses in British newspapers as less suitable than British-made bombers for bombing Germany was cleared up today.

The criticism was based on the first flying fortresses sent to Britain a year ago. The British found that for European combat purposes they were lightly protected, slow and carried an inefficiently light bomb load.

The United States army air force fortresses now in action are new types. They are fast, heavily armored, so heavily gunned that they are already the dread of enemy fighter pilots, so tough that they can come home shot full of holes, and expertly manned.

Further, unlike the first fortresses which came to Britain, they have the secret bomb sight which has permitted them to bomb targets so accurately that Allied fighter pilots who accompany them are amazed.

In their first raid Monday, on Rouen, the fortresses dropped their entire bomb load on selected railroad targets in an area of 300 yards from high altitude. In their next raid, on Abbeville Wednesday, they apparently hit every building in the target area. In their third raid, on Amiens, they scored 15 direct hits.

And yesterday, over the North Sea, 11 of them downed or damaged six Focke-Wulf-190 fighters, the best Germany has, in a 20-minute battle. In these four operations not a fortress was lost.

The intrepidity of the fortress against fighter challenge is partly due to new guns of a caliber even larger than those the British use, and the new power-rotated turret

A Japanese Zero fighter, one of three which rose to challenge the raiders, was shot down into the sea. One Allied plane was lost, the first to fall in more than a dozen successive attacks against Timor military bases and shipping.

Activity in the northeastern sector (New Guinea and New Britain) was reported limited to reconnaissance.

RANGERS TELL OF 'PICKING OFF GERMANS LIKE DUCKS' ON RAID

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Four American rangers who believe they may have been the first United States soldiers to fight on French soil in this war when they scrambled ashore at Dieppe with British commandos agreed today they're ready to tackle almost anything after their experiences in that foray.

The quartet—Corporal William R. Brady of Grand Forks, N. D.; Staff Sergeant Kenneth Stemson of Russell, Minn., Corporal Franklin M Koons of Swea City, Ia., and Sergeant Alex J Szima of Dayton — sprayed the Germans they encountered with new Garand rifle slugs and, as one said, "we were picking 'em off like ducks all day long"

"We found we were having fun," they said

Their first task was to scale a 75-foot cliff north of Dieppe and knock out two German pillboxes.

"It looked like a suicide mission, but damned if we didn't make it," said Corporal Brady. The first pill box was empty when they arrived.

"What the hell! We thought we'd go get the other one," Brady related

They were heading for the second pillbox under fire from German snipers when two British Spitfires flew low and put it out of action with machine gun bullets.

With their British commando unit, the Americans moved on to a crossroads and found a ten-man German patrol. In the shooting that followed five Germans were put out of action, they said. The others, Brady declared, "got the hell out of there."

All four of the Americans praised the British for their courage and fighting ability and said the Canadians were "one hell of a fine bunch."

"The British were so calm about it that it seemed like a maneuver," one said

The Germans already had forced the Don twice. The first crossing was wiped out; the second, more than 48 hours ago, was all but destroyed and its remnants driven back to the very edge of the east bank of the river

The southern flank, northeast of Kotelnikovski, which is 90 miles southwest of Stalingrad, also was in peril. There the Germans had driven a wedge of tanks into Russian defenses, and, although last midnight's communique said there were only a few tanks, and they were being wiped out, front-line dispatches indicated that the situation had not greatly improved.

On both flanks, German losses were heavy.

South of Krasnodar, the Russians fiercely resisted German forces driving toward the Soviet naval base of Novorossisk. One Russian unit killed more than 1,000 Germans, the noon communique reported

Krasnodar is 63 miles from Novorossisk, but the Germans apparently were much nearer their objective than that

Front-line dispatches revealed that German motorized infantry supported by hundreds of tanks had forced a retreat south of Krasnodar, obviously the retreat acknowledged in last midnight's communique.

The noon communique said an enemy unit had been encircled in the mountains and wiped out southeast of Pyatigorsk, which is 140 miles from the Grozny oil fields On another sector, however, the communique said, Soviet forces retreated to new defensive positions

Prisoner Refuses Parole, Demands His Full Freedom

SALT LAKE CITY—(INS)—The unusual case of a Utah state prison inmate who refused parole and has served an additional 14 months was brought to light recently with the request of Antonias Gerakis, 53-year-old Carbon county murderer, to have a definite date set for his release as a free man.

The Utah board of pardons granted Gerakis' application, setting July 29 as the date for consideration. At that time he will have served nine years and 10 months of an 18-year sentence imposed by the state's seventh district court

Gerakis, who for several years has tended the prison flower garden as his cherished own, originally was granted a parole effective as of May 29, 1941. He refused to leave the prison.

Gerakis pointed out that any infraction of rules prescribed by the board of corrections might bring about his return to prison under the parole system, while a termination would free him to leave the state and not subject to further confinement for misdemeanors.

with a request that negotiations open immediately on the piece work rate issue which caused the walkout. Company officials said the stoppage halted production of truck tires for military purposes and made 1,700 other workers idle.

In Pittsburgh a conference of CIO aluminum workers closed last night after fixing Aug. 27 as the date for local unions in seven plants of ALCOA to vote on approval or rejection of the WLB's decision denying a wage increase.

Nick A. Zonarich, union president, said that if the locals reject the WLB decision, he would have the power to call a strike. He said, however, that he planned a quick appeal to President Roosevelt, from the board's decision.

STILL BOSS

Chennault Retains Command of U. S. China Air Force.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, who led the American volunteer group—Flying Tigers—in their warfare against the Japanese in China, will retain command of United States fliers in China.

The war department explained today that the appointment of Brig. Gen. Clayton L. Bissell as commander of American air forces in China, Burma and India, announced in New Delhi yesterday by Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell, would not affect Chennault.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, AUGUST 22, 1942.

Drive carefully tomorrow—there are good reasons why 40 miles an hour should be your speed limit.

Unheard remark: "I'm sorry they've stopped those singing telegrams for birthday greetings—I always enjoyed receiving one of them."

Similes are where you find them, and it remained for a returned American flier to report that a burning freight yard in the Rhineland "was lit up like a pin-ball machine."

Continental Unity Furthered

WITH Canadian-American cooperation more effective than ever, sensible arrangements have now been made with Mexico. The problem for that country is not military but economic. With man-power on this side of the border in demand for war service and industry, extra help is needed especially in midwestern and southwestern areas to reap the crops.

The migratory workers for such jobs are now admitted freely, and under responsible conditions, by arrangement of the Washington and Mexican governments. Such temporary immigration is kept under control and given more security and better treatment than heretofore. Wages and living conditions are also controlled and made more fair and decent. American farm workers are guaranteed against reduction of prevailing pay rates or displacement by foreign labor. Immigrant workers come on contract to return home when their jobs are done, and are guaranteed adequate employment while here.

The solution of this problem should add to the recent improvement of Mexican-American relations. Along with the meshing of Canada's war-time economy with that of the states, agreement with Mexico helps to make the whole North American continent virtually one economic unit for the war period.

Mansfield Welcomes Ohio Sportsmen

MANSFIELD is glad to welcome, for this week-end, the several hundred sportsmen and wildlife conservationists who are attracted here by the two-day summer conference of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, which opens today and continues through tomorrow.

The program promises lively interest in many phases of outdoor life, with conservation of wildlife and natural resources in the foreground of talks and discussions.

Richland county interest in these subjects has been more deeply stirred in recent years by enlargement of the field of vicinity activities through development of Charles Mill and Pleasant Hill reservoirs and also as a result of the nation-wide attention being attracted to Louis Bromfield's conservation program being carried through on Malabar farm near Lucas.

Dedication of the Johnny Appleseed Scout Forest will be an appropriate feature of this gathering of Ohio sportsmen, as the ideals and purposes of such an organization must be passed to each succeeding generation, in order that the long-range program which conservation envisions shall progress with increasing vigor through future decades and centuries.

U. S. Never Prepared for War

FOR a supposedly peace-loving nation the United States has had its share of wars—one every twenty or thirty years. But not till the two world wars did Uncle Sam go at fighting as if it were serious business.

War department figures, recently released, show that in the War of 1812 only 10 per cent of the troops were regular army soldiers. State militiamen accounted for 88 per cent, and volunteers for the remainder. The war worked out just about as might have been expected. The inexperienced army, untrained except for the regulars, ran away in panic in almost every battle. Not till the battle of New Orleans, at the very end of the war, did our soldiers make a creditable showing.

The Mexican war showed a much better proportioned army. There were then 30 per cent of regulars to 12 per cent of militia, and 58 per cent of volunteers. This new distribution, and the fact that West Point had at last begun to function, had much to do with our overwhelming success.

From the Civil war on, our wars have been conducted like the serious business they were. Only in the Spanish war was there a reversion to the bad old ways of political officers and inadequately trained men. The last war eliminated the uncertainties of volunteering, and tried to assign men to work where they would do the most good. The only criticism is that, in view of the emergency abroad, it was necessary to rush soldiers over before they had learned their parts.

In this war the United States seems to have profited by earlier mistakes. In the camps they are teaching the methods of the present conflict, not of the one before. Uncle Sam's boys, when called into action, show the effect of careful preparation and acquit themselves creditably.

Nazi Cruelty In Holland

THREE MILLION Dutchmen are to be moved from Holland by Hitler, on the pretense that the country can't support its 9,000,000 people. This would seem ludicrous if it were not so tragic in its implications.

The Dutch have always been as self-respecting and self-sustaining as any people in the world. The only reason why they are not fully supporting themselves now it that the Germans have stolen their money, confiscated their property and deprived them of their jobs. The Japs have taken their territory in the East Indies.

The obvious remedy is not to move out the Dutch but to kick out the Nazis. That will be done in time, but meanwhile there will be much grief.

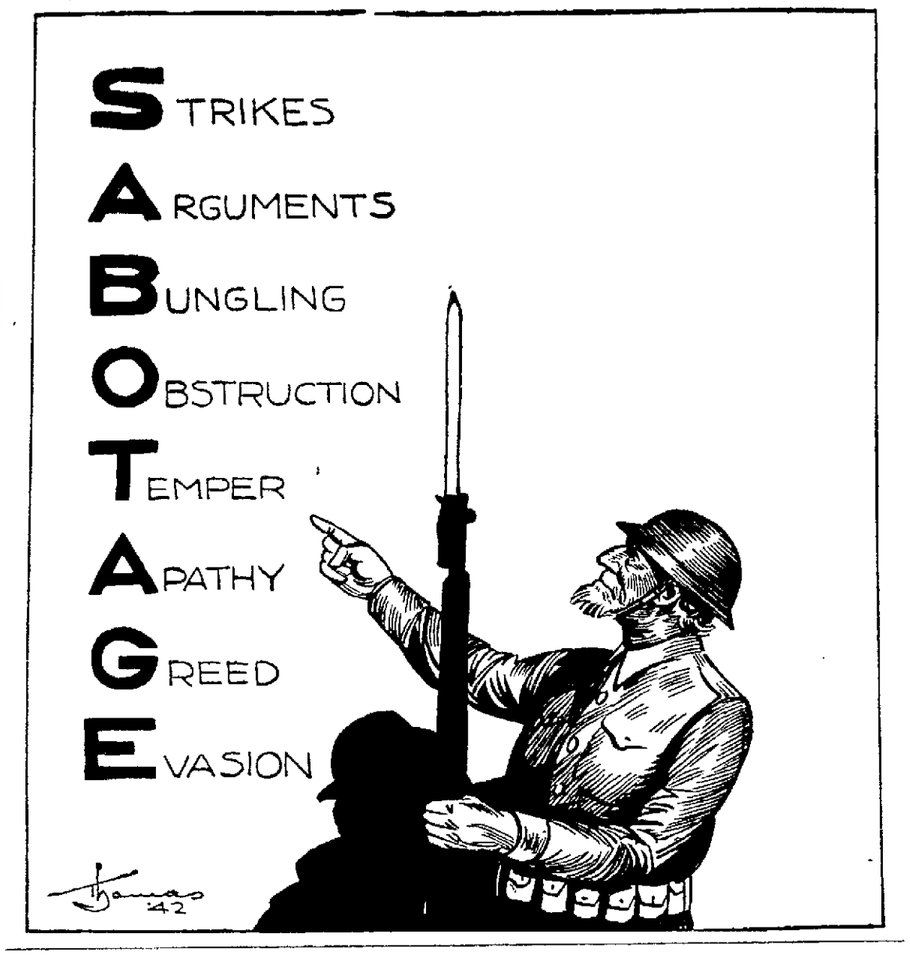
Bicycles Attain New Value

RATIONING of bicycles, long threatened, is now coming to reality. The bikes have been taking too much steel and, what is more important, too much rubber. So their manufacture and sale will be stopped, except for military use.

Already the children's two-wheeled "cars" have been pressed into the service of their elders, and this tendency will increase. Any stout bicycle with a good pair of tires may soon be valued as highly as a four-wheeled car has been in recent years.

Chicago female patrons of saloons appear to be satisfied with the ruling that they must occupy chairs instead of standing at the bar—as they are thus enabled to "sit tight."

PUT THEM TOGETHER AND SEE WHAT THEY SPELL



Co-ordination Seen as OPM Need

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

AMERICA'S total production is ample to meet all of wartime's demands on it. And yet, collectively speaking, there isn't enough of it. This may sound paradoxical, but experts are practically unanimous in agreeing that it's true.

It isn't mysterious at that. One industry furnishes supplies of a raw material or some particular gadget, neither of which is of any use by itself, but, combined with different raw materials or gadgets provided by a multiplicity of other specializing industries, reveals itself as an essential element in an urgently necessary machine, for war purposes or for civilian requirements, to keep war going.

Okay, the raw materials and the various differing gadgets are available up to the limit, each, but they don't get themselves assembled. And separately each one is no good.

Not only is the job of assembling 'em inadequately attended to, but their respective productions are unbalanced. Assume a demand for some big war engine, into the manufacture of which raw materials and gadgets A, B, C, D, E, F and G enter. The thing won't work without all of 'em included. Suppose, then, that A, B, C, D, E and F are unlimitedly available. But there's no G. Accordingly nix on that machine.

Such is the existing difficulty.

Nelson Is Blamed.

It's bad coordination, according to the experts.

Production Manager Donald M. Nelson is rapidly graduating into chief criticism for the situation.

Representative John H. Tolan of California is chairman of a congressional committee that's been investigating defense problems and his version is that Donald's been "too much of an umpire and not enough of a boss."

Each industry has its own bug as to its especial importance, naturally. Frequently two or three of 'em clash relative to supplies of raw stuff or labor to process it or facilities for its delivery. These disputes are put up to Don Nelson and Jack Tolan's thesis is that Don ought to settle 'em by a dictatorial order — instead of which, Jack says, Nelson arbitrates.

Representative Tolan's ideal is the organization of American industry on the basis of "one gigantic plant."

It's a plan to which an objection's raised in individualistic quarters.

It rests on the ground that, the war being over finally, industry'll be so completely governmentalized that it never'll get back to independence—it'll be run from overhead and workers will be (to put it plainly) "slaves."

An alternative's suggested.

It's to the purport that the army, the navy and the air corps ought, each to have final authority, each in its own individual field.

The immediate difficulty is that they might clash, too. The army wants the whole air force. The navy likewise wants it all. And, as for the aviators, if they had their way, they'd amalgamate all surface-lings into their own arm.

And, anyway, do we want our whole industrial system militarized?

Jealousy and Friction.

That there's military-civilian jealousy is to be expected.

That doesn't signify much. The civilians are told to go to hades and do it with no controversy. As between army, navy and aviation wings, however, there's room for friction.

They're stung by one another.

The armed forces pull at cross purposes, according to Congressional Investigator Tolan, and that's what is the matter with 'em.

What we want, he argues, is a joint civilian-army-navy-and-aviatorial dictatorship to tell industry where to "get off at."

Investigator Tolan doesn't so much blame Production Boss Donald Nelson.

His impression is that Donald simply is confused between the conflicting testimonies of experts, to whose dope, one way or the other, he's entirely uninformed.

Timely Editorial

Wartime Work Schedule.

Is the United States at war? Are we the arsenal of democracy? Is the emergency great and the time short?

So we are told, but one would never know it on the basis of a report just issued by the works progress administration, on the basis of a study of industry and agriculture.

The average work week in June was just one hour longer than it was a year ago, the survey showed.

One hour more a week to beat the Axis! In June, 1941, six months before Pearl Harbor, the work week averaged 45.7 hours. Last June it was 46.7. Both figures included the hours of agricultural workers, thus bringing the average much higher than it would be for men and women in industry.

Production must be stepped up! Do you suppose it would be too much to ask American workers to add another 60 minutes to their work schedules this year?—Akron Beacon-Journal.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, August 22, 1922.

Betty Jane Walters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Walters, 45 Douglas avenue, was the only Mansfield baby thus far entered in baby contest conducted in connection with Ohio state fair.

Birth reports: Son to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sowash, West Arch street; daughter to Mr. and Mrs. David Buell, South Mulberry street.

Mrs. R. W. Hartman died at her home, 561 Park avenue west.

Miss Vera Hazen and Ralph Gruver were married by Rev. N. A. Hassel at St. Peter's church.

Albert Strater left on two weeks fishing trip to Georgian Bay.

J. W. Mykrantz started court proceedings on mortgage held against Windemere property, Park avenue west.

Rotary ball players defeated Exchange club team by 20-0 score on West Fourth street grounds.

U. C. club members held birthday party for Mrs. Sharp Kneeland at her home, 480 South Diamond street.

TODAY IN HISTORY

First yachting race to establish what can be called a world's championship was sailed this date, 1851. Open to yachts of all classes from all parts of the world, the course was 60 miles around the Isle of Wight. Prize was a cup costing about $500, donated by the Royal Yacht club of England. The race was won by the U. S. schooner America, which covered the course in 10 hours, 34 minutes.

Listen World!

Heil Hitler!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HEIL HITLER! No, I'm not a Storm Trooper—nor an awed German peasant saluting you as you stand above me on some balcony, shrieking, sobbing and yapping. I'm just an American woman-writer—a wife and mother whose only concern is human beings and how they tick. And I'm wondering about you tonight, Adolf, and how you tick when you've left the balcony and gone away from the shouting mob, into your own bedroom at night—alone.

I wonder what happens to you when you take off your false front and face your real self, Adolf. Does Something catch up with you . . . grab you by the throat. . . . Something that even your body guard sleeping outside your door, can't foresee or prevent? Does it grasp you tighter—tighter—as you take off your phony uniform and reveal yourself as just a little wizened whoosit who has bitten off more than he can ever chew?

Does it seize you when you crawl into bed, feeling that sag which only the middle years can bring? Do you think of your toppling dreams then, Adolf . . . those dreams of world power which warmed you through your frustrated youth . . . those dreams which once seemed so near to glorious consummation but which are so bloodied and beset today? Or does your arrogance still wrap you in delusion until you sleep?

But when you sleep - what then, Adolf? Sleep's a queer thing—perhaps you've found that out. We can hold off reality by day . . . busying ourselves with many things . . . hiding ourselves behind an impressive front. But when our eyelids drop, something happens. Then our front fails us . . . then we face the truth we've submerged all day. Do you face that truth when you sleep at night, Adolf?

Once you were poor. Do you remember, in your sleep, the countless poor you have deprived of their last bit of bread? Do you see the dead wagons of Greece carting off their dreadful, daily toll of skeletons—poor bones covered with tattered skin? Do you see your own starving German peasants—their sunken eyes staring dumbly after the trucks which have robbed them of their last ounce of harvest?

Once you were humiliated, Adolf. You had not known that you were not like other boys. You had not guessed that you were born nameless. Then the other boys told you—sneered at you—hinted even, that you had Jewish blood. Maybe you crept off and cried as any little child will cry under cruelty—

Do you recall those crys now, Adolf—when you hear the screams of the thousands of helpless innocents you have murdered—mutilated? Do their terrified faces circle around your bed . . . the agonized eyes of young mothers leaping from windows rather than face the shame of your hired rapers and the horror of their babies' skulls smashing like eggs on the cobbled streets?

Queer thing, Adolf—once I wanted to kill you. I was a big husky then, tall blond and strong as any of your vaunted German fraulein. In the far west, where I was born, I had learned about guns and varmints. One well-aimed shot, I thought, would rid the world of the vilest varmint it has ever known.

Yes, I wanted to kill you once. But I'm different now. I know that a Straighter She Ver than I can ever be, will take care of you in His own good time.

For some day you're going to face a reckoning from which no Storm Trooper or armored car can protect you . . . and you'll face it alone. Your struts won't avail you then, Adolf . . . nor your oratorical shrieks and sobs. The world you lorished will have dropped away and you'll be alone with God. And your millions of dead. And even I pity you when your hour comes.

SO HEIL, HITLER — HEIL! AND MAKE THE MOST OF IT WHILE YOU CAN. THERE'S A LONG, LONG SILENCE AHEAD.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Spectacular Action Marks Week As Allies Test Offensive Power

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEWSSTANDS did a landoffice business. Interpreters interpreted. Newsboys screamed. Readers smiled with anticipation. "Invasion," some of the headlines roared. "Smashing attack" said more conservative editors.

Whatever it was—the prelude to real Second Front operations or a glorified hit-run raid—the Commando attack on the wide beaches east and west of Dieppe, 50 miles across the Channel in Occupied France, touched off some real fireworks. It was an important part of a week in which one development after another indicated the Allies were ready to start punching.

For the first time since 1917 American soldiers landed on the European continent. Husky, proud volunteers, they called themselves the Rangers after Rogers' Rangers, famed for exploits in the Indian wars.

Yankee Air Force crews lent a hand with a Flying Fortress attack on German air stations at Abbeville while RAF, RCAF and American pilots covered the landing-in-force with the thickest aerial umbrella ever seen.

Radio Berlin called it a thwarted invasion, figured it would be a propaganda feather for the Nazi cap to beat off an "invasion" attempt.

The BBC all along called it just a raid, called off its "Victory Army" with a warning to Fighting Frenchmen in occupied territory that this was a private fight and to keep out for fear of Nazi retribution.

British communiques definitely described the action as "limited and temporary," having "nothing to do with military decisions which have been taken in Moscow recently." It was, nonetheless, a good show, one that lifted the hearts of all the Allies and more firmly implanted the fear of invasion in Axis hearts.

Raid results: An ammunition dump, a radio location station, an anti-aircraft battery, another six-gun battery destroyed, about 100 British planes lost, probably twice that many German craft hit.

* * *

Russia Holds On.

Meanwhile, as a Second Front began to take on more than its ghostly form of the past several months, Russia held on grimly against Nazi hordes which closed in on the arteries and the oil-supplying heart of her military machine.

Winston Churchill, with a group of some 20 in his party, including W. Averill Harriman as the representative of President Roosevelt, had come and gone and Stalin, it was generally agreed, knew definitely what kind of help to expect and when it might be expected.

What Stalin, Churchill, and the rest of the Kremlin conference group talked about during the visitors' four-day stay in Moscow was no puzzle.

What they decided on as a result of the conferences was the real puzzle.

* * *

New Zip In Egypt?

Churchill's visit to Moscow produced other interesting stories, too, among them the news of his stop-off in Egypt to look over the situation there and talk with soldiers on the scene of the drawn-out stalemate.

Especially interesting was this visit when news interpreters tied it up with the subsequent appointment of aggressive Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander as commander in the Middle East.

Alexander, chosen to replace wily Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck, who stopped Rommel at El Alamein, is a slim, wiry 50-year-old general whose fondness for fierce attacks is legend in British military circles.

At Home

Subs Shift.

Wary naval authorities got some satisfaction out of the increasingly evident effectiveness of strengthened anti-submarine efforts in the western Atlantic, pointed to August records which will be the best for any month since early spring unless announced sinkings go up rapidly in the next week.

But, the navy warned even as it took stock of the situation, the Nazi underwater killers may have been chased to less protected waters. The warning was scarcely out until sinkings in the south Atlantic off South America began to rise.

During the week the Jerries continued torpedoing ships in that area, hammered at supply-loaded vessels between the South American hump and Africa.

* * *

Angry Brazil.

From outraged Brazil, which had broken relations but not declared war on the Axis, came announcement of five coast ships sunk—two of them loaded with troops.

Hot-blooded Brazilians tore their country's flag from the buildings of two pro-Axis newspapers, gathered before the U. S. embassy to cheer President Roosevelt and demand united action by American nations, heard their president, Getulio Vargas, promise that the "acts of piracy" would not go unpunished.

* * *

Gas Pains.

OPA spotters, dropping in at the Salem, N. H., Rockingham track during a recent meeting, discovered that some horse race fans from neighboring Massachusetts chose strange conveyances for transportation to a sporting event.

Parked at the track at least twice during a survey over a five-day period were several funeral cars and trucks, all with "S" or unlimited ration cards. And there were cars belonging to physicians with "C" cards.

As a result of the OPA check-up, some 275 Massachusetts motorists holding liberal ration cards were ordered to show cause why they should not be prosecuted for making frequent visits to the track in their automobiles.

* * *

U. S. Food Supply.

The housewife who's beginning to notice the pinch on American pantries in the rationing of sugar and the more or less irregular shortages in meats and other commodities might just as well get used to the situation. She probably will come face to face with many more shortages—and in greater severity.

So warn the experts who have taken a long-range look at our agricultural situation now that Hitler's drives through important Russian breadbasket areas have put an even heavier drain on our food supplies.

Just now the American pantry, for war-time, is comfortably if not generously filled.

* * *

Solomon Success.

So far in this war most of the "mopping up" has been done by the Axis, but during the week the Allies got in some work of that nature on their own.

The scene was the Solomon Islands. The moppers-uppers were the U. S. Marines. The victims were Japanese caught by surprise by the combined U. S.-Australian air and sea attack on these exotic islands, the southernmost point of Japanese aggression in the Southwest Pacific.

The results, carefully concealed by military censorship to help keep Tokyo squirming uneasily, were reported piecemeal:

The Marines had landed. The Marines were consolidating their beachheads. The Marines were mopping up.

Meanwhile, at home, Marine recruiting stations were jampacked wtih shining young faces, hands itching to sign the enlistment blanks so they, too, could fight somewhere between the Halls of Montezuma and the shores of Tripoli.

People

Private's Privacy.

At Miami Beach headquarters of the Army Air Force Technical Training Command, a strapping, 41-year-old private went through the routine of being weighed, measured for uniform, and taking the usual immunization injections.

That they were allowed to do that, army officials said, was just a concession to the public interest in the private's enlistment. But from now on, they warned, Private Clark Gable will enjoy the privacy and anonymity of the average soldier.

* * *

Quiet, Please!

Best bit of advice during the week on the business of keeping war secrets came from Col. Carl B. McDaniel, addressing student officers at Hendricks Field, Fla. Advised Col. McDaniel:

"I can keep secrets. It's the people I tell them to who can't."

* * *

Handicaps No Handicap.

Emphasizing the fact that there's a place for everyone in the war effort was a report during the week on a program of the University of Southern California and the Southern California Social Service Council under which physically handicapped persons are trained for jobs.

Since Pearl Harbor, said the report, 1,597 handicapped persons had been placed in productive jobs, at least 50 per cent of them in essential war industries. Some examples: One-armed men working as welders, one-legged men as drill press operators, midgets as aircraft riveters, deaf mutes as machinists.

In Short

Asked: By Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard, that farmers give up a provision of the price control law prohibiting ceilings on farm prices at less than 110% of parity. He said the provision "is being used as an argument to slow down economic controls in other fields."

Killed: Seventeen men in the crash of a flaming transport plane near Peru, Mass. Sergt. Robert Lee, 23, of Columbus, O., and two companions he dragged to safety suffered critical burns.

Announced: By the British Admiralty, that the aircraft carrier Eagle, the cruiser Manchester, the aircraft cruiser Cairo and the destroyer Foresight were lost in Mediterranean convoy operations.

Ordered: By Acting Secretary of War Robert Patterson, that Army authorities take over the plant of the S. A. Woods Machine Company in Boston, Mass. Employes of the General Cable Corporation at Bayonne, N. J., asked President Roosevelt to return that plant to private management after it was put in Navy hands as a result of a wage dispute walkout.

Daily Bible Thought

Seek ye the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while he is near.—Isaiah 55:6.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—What a break Hollywood got when the Marines invaded the Solomons. They were all set for a national release of their new picture, "Wake Island," which the U. S. Marines supervised, when the headlines broke. Locally, at least, Marine enlistment stations are overcrowded. Bands blare the traditional song of the Marines. . . . And Paramount comes up with a day-by-day log of the last days on Wake that ended with Devereaux's terse, cryptic farewell announcement by radio: "Enemy has landed; issue is in doubt."

I've seen the picture and I've talked to General Robert Livingston Denig, U. S. M. C., who expressed himself as well pleased with it. It was filmed under the supervision of high ranking Marine officers.

Its action is authentic. It is all there, bomb for bomb and stick for stick, as we know the story from the dispatches and from the official reports that were flown out of Wake on a naval plane two days before the fall. I can see old Marines jutting out their chests just a mite further after they gam the doings of their outfit in this last ditch scrap.

* * *

ONE of the things the Marines had to be careful of—in this pix—was whether or not Paramount's actors could die like Marines. That is, without hamming it up too thick. When a man's hit, he goes down, and as a rule he seldom flails his arms, twirls in mid-air, crosses himself, and kisses his sweetheart's picture before he passes on. General Denig, who has seen men die in more than one war, and who would need an extra shirt front to provide space for all his medals, if he chose to wear them, gives Hollywood the okay on this one. He was pleased. So were all the Marine biggies who were instrumental in the film, as a document on a great last-ditch fight that won more glory than half a dozen victories.

* * *

INCIDENTALLY, like the Wake Marines who fought the first action of the war after Pearl Harbor for the U. S., the Marines were also first in the First World War. Back in '17 a detail of 15 Marines, on orders of President Wilson, seized the German warship Cormoran, which had been interned at Guam several months previously. En route to the ship they were compelled to fire across the bow of a cutter carrying German naval officers, to bring about the surrender of those men. It preceded by six months the next shot fired by Americans — this time in France — in World War No. 1.

Though the official day-by-day log is faithfully adhered to in "Wake Island," the names of the chief characters are fictional. For instance, the counterpart of Major James Patrick Devereaux, who was in command at Wake, is the actor Brian Donlevy who, as Major Caton, does a chesty, bang-up job.

ASHLAND GROUP DEDICATES NEW CHURCH SUNDAY

First Church of God Will Be Opened In Special Ceremony.

ASHLAND—A First Church of God at the corner of East Liberty street and Taylor streets will be dedicated here Sunday at 3 p. m. The church building and property, which was acquired a few months after the incorporation of the church here in 1941, has been remodeled and decorated by Mr. Wick Bowser, contractor of Mansfield, assisted by members and friends of the congregation.

Pastor of the church is Rev. Russell I. Hinderer, who has been with the church since its organization. Principal speaker at the dedication service will be Dr. F. G. Smith, pastor of the McKinley Avenue Church of God at Akron.

ASHLAND—A motion has been denied in Ashland common pleas court to have Sheffield William Sweeney, defendant in a divorce action brought by Gertrude May Sweeney, pay support of a minor child. The court holds it is without jurisdiction to make such an order because no personal service was obtained on Sweeney in the divorce suit brought by his wife.

ASHLAND — Ashland county commissioners have awarded a contract for four and half tons of fertilizer to Ray Helbert of Loudonville whose bid of $35.21 on 0-20-10 was the lowest of three submitted.

One bid for lime has been rejected because it was not according to specifications and John Kahl, county home superintendent, has been authorized to buy lime without bids.

KEEPS $2000

U.S.O. Has That Sun With Which to Operate Club.

Although the Richland County U. S. O. was entitled to keep $4,452 for operation of its own service club, as the result of the last two annual campaigns, it was actually keeping only $2,000.

This was explained today by George H. Smith, chairman of the last U. S. O. fund campaign, in which $20,040 was raised, as against a quota for the county of $22,000. Since the organization had a balance of $2,679 from it first campaign, conducted a year ago, it was voted to make up the difference between the amount actually raised and the quota set. When this was done, Smith continued, the Richland chapter had $2,000 left for operation of its own club here, soon to be established in the Y. M. C. A.

Had the chapter been satisfied to fall short of its quota, it could have kept one-eleventh of the $20,040 raised, which—added to the $2,679 balance, would have amounted to $4,452.

MEET AT GALION

Kelly Family, Church Group Hold Outings at Heise Park.

GALION—Forty-five were present at the annual picnic of the Baptist Sunday school and church at Heise park Friday evening.

Chicken supper was served by the Loyal Workers' class. Following supper, games and contests were played, under the direction of Carolyn Brooks.

GALION—Ray Kelly of Edison was elected president and Ernestine Kelly of Edison was elected secretary at the 45th annual reunion of the Kelly families at Heise park Friday evening.

GALION—Mrs. Alfred Sentieri entertained eight members of the Arbutus club at her home on Bucyrus road, Friday afternoon. After cards, the group went to Stout's restaurant for dinner.

CAUGHT NAPPING

ASHLAND — While Kenneth Evans, truck driver of Hazel Park, Mich., took a nap in his truck parked near a downtown Ashland gasoline station early Friday morning, a spare tire on the truck was stolen. He reported the theft to Ashland police, stating that he slept about an hour and a half and when he awakened the tire was gone.

TO TEST PLANE

BUCYRUS—Roe Tanner of the Tanner Laboratories of Attica, moved into Bucyrus airport hangar Friday with parts of the plane which he assembled and expects to place in a test flight within a week or two. The plane, invented by Tanner, who claims several years experience in aerodynamics, will revolutionize the airplane industry, if successful, the inventer avers.

CRESTLINE UNIT PLANS ELECTION

Nominate Officers For Club; Recently-Wed Couple Given Shower.

CRESTLINE — The August meeting of the Sandusky township Community club was held recently at the home of Mrs. Josie Rader, southeast of Crestline. Nomination of officers for the annual election of officers to be held Sept. 17, were made. Plans were also made for a picnic to be held at Heise park, Galion, Aug. 27.

CRESTLINE — Mr. and Mrs. Harl Hoffman, recently married, were presented a miscellaneous shower of gifts by members of the Ladies' Aid society of the United Brethren church when they gathered at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffman, where the couple are residing.

CRESTLINE—H. H. club members were served a picnic supper when they met at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Peaslee at Walton lake recently.

DIES AT AGE 66

Former Galion Resident Expires at Daughter's Home.

GALION—Mrs. Mary McElroy, 66, 204½ South Columbus street, died Thursday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Irvin Watts, South Rich street, Mt. Gilead, where she had been taken two months ago. She had been in ill health for the past year.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. from the Craven Funeral home in Mt. Gilead. Interment will be made in Iberia cemetery.

Mrs. McElroy was born near Iberia, March 24, 1876, the daughter of John and Melinda Armstrong. She lived in Galion eight years, coming here from Johnsville.

Two daughters, Mrs. Watts, Mt. Gilead and Mrs. C. G. Fordem, Galion, and two sisters, Mrs. Ella Davis and Mrs. Kate Davis of Galion, survive. Four grandchildren also survive.

SHELBY BRIDE GIVEN SHOWER

SHELBY — Mrs. Oakley Couch entertained a large number of friends recently at her home at 82 North Broadway in the form of an announcement party and miscellaneous shower.

The guest of honor was Miss Hermagene Heuberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Heuberger, whose marriage to Clyde Garrett, jr., is to be an event of September 2.

GETS TRANSFER

GALION—Joel Shupp has been transferred from Curtis Bay, Md., to Washington, D. C. He is a member of the coast guard.

Back in the years from 1720 to 1730 swimming buffaloes were so numerous in the Mississippi river near the present site of La Crosse, Wis., that canoe travelers found it necessary to halt their journeys.

CRAWFORD COUNTY CANDIDATES FILE LIGHT ELECTION EXPENSES

BUCYRUS — Eight candidates filed accounts of primary campaigns with the county election board Friday.

The quiet primary was reflected in the small number of accounts filed. Highest accounts listed were in the campaign for county auditor. Carl J. Ross defeated candidate, listed $283.05 expended, and the successful candidate, C. C. Metzger, filed expenses of $226.94.

Four candidates for county commissioner filed accounts, two of which were for more than $200. Those listing accounts were Jess R. Brinkman, $143.53; Z. O. Roop, successful candidate, $162.28; Clarence Oberlander, $110.72, and Harry F. Fauser, $206.20.

Robert Moulton, candidate for state representative, listed $22.65 expended, and Judge G. U. Ahl, common pleas judge candidate, reported expenses of $3.

PLACES FUNDS IN EIGHT BANKS

County Commissioners Set Up Depositories To Keep $1,085,000.

Richland county commissioners today authorized the deposit of $1,085,000 in active county funds for the next year in eight county banks.

Since the funds may be withdrawn at any time, the banks offered no depository interest and the money was allocated in amounts the banks asked for, P. S. Carroll, clerk of the board of commissioners said.

The Farmers Savings and Trust company and the Citizens National Bank and Trust company, Mansfield, each will get $300,000 in county funds during the year beginning Aug. 24.

Commissioners will deposit $200,000 with the Richland Trust company, Mansfield; $100,000 each with the Citizens National bank and First National bank, Shelby; $35,000 with the Farmers bank of Bellville; $30,000 with the Lucas State bank, and $20,000 with the Shiloh Savings bank.

FILES CLAIM

Father Says City To Blame For Daughter's Injuries.

Claim has been filed against the city of Mansfield for surgical services by B. A. Landon, 811 Maple street, on behalf of his 11-year-old daughter.

Negligence on the part of some one or another of the city departments is charged in the communication filed with Robert Black, clerk of council. Landon's petition sets that on July 29 his daughter suffered a broken wrist when she fell in a ditch while playing at Maple Lake park.

Landon claims he had been advised that orders had been issued some time previous to the accident for closing the ditch and that this work was neglected. No specific amount was mentioned in the claim.

SET RITES FOR TRAIN VICTIM

WILLARD — Funeral services for Junior Elwood Hauck, 21, will be at the United Brethren church Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Rev. Paul W. Sharp will officiate and burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery.

He died early Friday after injuries received when he fell from a car in the Baltimore and Ohio railway yards.

MILLER TO GET SANITY HEARING

ASHLAND—Allison Miller, 34, of near Perrysville has been returned to the county jail from Lima State hospital following a period of observation after being charged with unlawful assault with intent to kill.

Miller will be given a sanity hearing in Ashland common pleas court. Dr. R. E. Bushong, superintendent of the Lima hospital, has held that Miller is "legally insane." Miller attempted to shoot Deputy Sheriff M. F. Rickenbrod when the latter attempted to arrest him on a charge of intoxication.

HEALTH CHIEF URGES CORRECT MEASURES TO INSURE HEALTH

Citing that physical defects which could have been avoided by proper preventive or remedial measures in earlier years are the outstanding causes of rejections of American manpower for military service, Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, today declared "this is a challenge to all of us to find and apply the correct measures to insure a strong and healthy nation for the future."

Discussing a current typhoid fever case and a recent diphtheria ailment, Dr. Wild stressed the danger of "acquiring" immunity through such suffering, ex-victim in a permanently crippled condition.

Immunization through proper inoculation with vaccines is advocated, as an "active" type process of insuring good health, according to Commissioner Wild. The "passive" immunity conferred by administration of antitoxins and sera lasts only a few weeks, he says, and may leave the patients in impaired condition.

In discussing the accord of educational officials in the immunization program Dr. Wild emphasized other protective measures which are the inherited right of all—fresh air, sunshine, cleanliness of person and home, health-

MANSFIELD BUSINESS IN REVIEW

Smart's Music Shop Presents Magnavox, Navy "E" Winner

Creator of First Radio Speaker Produces Finest Sets.

Mansfield musical lovers and radio enthusiasts have come to know that Magnavox, the oldest name in radio, gives them the finest reproduction of radio or phonograph reception and they buy their Magnavox at the Smart Music Shop at 6 South Main street.

Eugene Smart, proprietor of the music shop aud the Smart Studios, has been connected with music in Mansfield for a quarter century. His choice of the Magnavox as the finest in the radio and phonograph line is supported by Sir Thomas Beecham, famed English conductor, Arturo Rodzinski, Paul Whiteman, Eugene Ormandy and several other well-known musicians.

The makers of Magnavox recently received the Navy "E" pennant for excellence. Magnavox is the first out of a total of 6,000 contractors making materials for the Navy to receive this highest award.

Magnavox won this award through no overnight ascendancy to greatness. Years and years of patient experiment coupled with the ingenuity of the finest craftsmen and engineers had much to do with its advance.

"The oldest name in radio," Magnavox won that name by being one of the pioneer radio manufacturers. Founded 31 years ago in Napa, Calif., as the Commercial Wireless and Development company, an organization devoted to electrical research, the company has steadily grown in prestige.

Its founders, Edwin S. Pridham and Richard O'Connor, sr., founded the loud-speaker which makes possible modern radio. The company also pioneered such achievements as the first electrically-amplified phonograph, the first single controlled radio, the first public address system, the first amplified radio-phonograph combination.

From all of its accomplishments, many engineers freely credit Magnavox with having made possible the superlative tone quality which we now take for granted in our modern radios and amplified phonographs.

While experimenting to improve the telephone receiver, Magnavox engineers discovered the principle of the electrodynamic or moving coil telephone. The first device was very crude; a tightly stretched copper wire in a strong magnetic field. An ordinary match stick was used to attach the wire to a rather large sound box. When talking into a transmitter connected with their speaker mechanism, the engineers secured a remarkably clear and loud reproduction of speech. Thus, in 1911 was born America's first loud speaker.

Also linked with the loud voice reproduction was the name of the company itself for the very appropriate name "Magnavox" means great voice and was chosen because the new sound reproducer was radically different from any other telephone receiver in that it possessed great volume.

This explains how Magnavox happened to be the first to invent the amplified phonograph, and the public address system. So whenever loud speaker announcements enable you to enjoy more fully a football or baseball game, you really should thank the Magnavox company.

An interesting phase in Magnavox history is its long record of service in developing vital equipment for Army and Navy use.

One outstanding military contribution was the Magnavox "anti-noise transmitter" for airplanes. It was easy to transmit Morse code but when it came to voice the noise of the motors blotted out the voice vibrations. The Navy first thought of a Magnavox loud speaker. However, under test the speaker reproduced all the noise as clearly as the voice.

So the engineers started working on the transmitter—that part of the telephone circuit that transforms the speech vibrations into electric currents. Finally, after many months of being able to pick up only five to ten per cent of the words, they hit upon the happy idea of not trying to keep the noise out of the transmitter but instead to let it all in.

Accordingly they built the transmitter wide open but it was so constructed that the noise vibrations struck both sides of the diaphragm equally with the result that their effect was neutralized. It took only a half hour to make the sample transmitter. They tried it out the same day and it was a complete success.

All Army and Navy men know that the "anti-noise airplane transmitter" played an important part in the last war and is vastly more important in the present one.

Magnavox marine telephone equipment has been used extensively on submarines, warships and aircraft, including the great dirigible "Shenandoah."

Smart is proud of the custom-made cabinets enclosing the perfect Magnavox equipment in the radios and radio-phonograph combinations on display in his shop.

Almost from the beginninb it has been the company's ambition to build a radio-phonograph which would be the nearest thing to perfection in every phase of its engineering and cabinet construction.

"A Magnavox," says Smart, "is more than just a fine radio and phonograph. As a symbol of gracious living, it is an investment in quality, in enduring pride and pleasure for years to come.

The Magnavox radio-phonograph is made for people who like the finer things of life, who love good music reproduced with the thrilling beauty of the original rendition, and who admire the ageless charm of traditional furniture. In short, buying a Magnavox is not so much a matter of money as it is a question of good taste—of gracious living.

Smart also maintains a large stock of quality pianos and an extensive stock of recordings. Among the pianos stocked by Smart is the Kimball, which many concert artists consider the finest in the world.

OPS SUGGESTS AIDS TO HELP REDUCE WASTE

Company Offers Conservation Hints to Help Win War With Axis.

In order to help other business firms enlist in the war on waste as an aid to win the war against the Axis, the Mansfield office of the Ohio Public Service company has prepared a list of suggestions based on the watchword, "Serve Through Saving."

A paper clip, a rubber band, or a sheet of paper seems an insignificant object unworthy of serious consideration, yet all the odds and ends saved mean more material, more manpower, and more machinery available for the munitions for victory.

The future for clips is dark. Don't be ashamed to stoop and pick up one today. Remove them before discarding old papers.

Guard erasers with your life. They are made of rubber—you know—that stuff they once used for automobile tires.

Don't use snap judgment when you use rubber bands. When the present supply is gone "that's all; there ain't no more."

Point pencils carefully. You will get more miles of writing by using a pencil with a hard lead. Such pencils should be used in preparing multiple copy forms. Make stubs serve by capping them with a metal pencil lengthener. Don't lose or abuse your mechanical pencil.

The basic material in pencil leads is graphite which is in great demand for war production purposes. Handle refill leads with care, especially when inserting these in pencils so as to avoid breakage. That little piece you break off occasionally represents 100 per cent loss for no use is made of it.

Basic materials in carbon paper are thin, hard finish tissue and compound dies, inks, chemicals, wax and basic pigments. Some of these materials are obtainable only from warring nations and suitable substitutes are either difficult to discover or secure. Guard against unnecessary and careless wrinkling and tearing.

Our government is using vast quantities of paper and cardboard for a thousand jobs directly connected with our war effort. We must save on paper at every point.

A few general rules of conservation to follow are:

1. Order only enough supplies for current use. Don't hoard.
2. Before discarding anything, ask yourself, "Can this be used?"
3. Use all supplies as though you can't get any more.

THREE LOCAL GARDEN GROUPS ENTERTAIN

Mansfield, Town and Country, Cottage Garden Clubs Gather Yesterday for Various Kinds of Meetings.

FOR THEIR MEETINGS yesterday, three local garden clubs enjoyed times ranging from a breakfast to a picnic at a farm and a late morning gathering. Hostess for the Mansfield Garden club at her home on Marion avenue road, was Mrs. Arthur Rigby assisted by Mrs. E. J. Gilbert.

A light luncheon was served to the 25 members at noon with Mrs. Alfred Colby and Mrs. Charles Jelliff presiding at the table, which was decorated with a flat arrangement of morning glories. There were several beautiful floral arrangements with gladioli in all shades featured. The hostess displayed the new "War" gladiolus, a handsome flower with nearly double blossoms in a deep red shade.

Mrs. Colby gave the paper on "Some Problems of Creating New Flowers," and illustrated her talk with 25 specimens of new flowers being tried by some of the members. The time was then spent in the Rigby gardens. Mrs. W. G. Moore, Hawthorne lane, will entertain on Sept. 4, at which time Mrs. S. C. Schiller will be associate. Slides and pictures of the members' gardens will be shown.

Town and Country.

At the C. L. Mitchell farm 12 members of the Town and Country Garden club met yesterday afternoon with their hostess, Mrs. George Price. Although an outdoor meeting had been planned, rain took the group inside. Presiding at the table was Mrs. David Shelley. For the regular meeting on Aug. 28 with Mrs. Clifford Faust, 368 North Townview circle, a flower show will be held.

Cottage Members.

Approximately 14 members of the Cottage Garden club gathered for a breakfast in South Park. Guest speaker was Mrs. H. M. Spandau, state chairman on birds for the Garden Club of Ohio, who gave a talk about birds. The club presented her with a gift bouquet of defense stamps.

On Sept. 4 at Middle park a picnic will be held with the Junior Garden club as guests. Each member is requested to bring an arrangement for the flower show, which can be made of flowers, fruit or vegetables.

Thursday Class Has Park Dinner

At Seltzer park in Shelby Thursday evening, St. Paul's Thursday Nighters enjoyed a dinner meeting. Committee in charge of the 6:30 dinner included Miss Katherine Miller, Oscar Bollman and the Misses Helen and Marguritte Boyer. Part of the time was spent with games and the individual prize was awarded to Rev. H. L. Gilbert.

During the business meeting, the class agreed to help buy paint for the church parlors. Guests from Bucyrus were the Misses Helen and Dorothy Schott. For the Sept. 17 dinner meeting the place will be decided by the committee, Miss Olga Luich, Fred Miller, jr., and Mr. and Mrs. John Schiffel.

Eagles Auxiliary Meets on Friday

Twenty-six members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Eagles met in the lodge hall last night. Mrs. Thelma Fisher, president, had charge of the business session. Mrs. Florence Myers and Mrs. Irma Gilmore were welcomed as new members.

Under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Blocker, the drill team put on degree work. A social hour followed with Mrs. Josephine Daugherty, Mrs. Lillian Emmons, Mrs. Sally Dunfee and Miss Ethel Duffy as hostesses. The next regular meeting will be held Sept. 4. A meeting of the degree team will be held on Aug. 31.

ALPHA NU OMEGA.

Hostess to Alpha Nu Omega sorority Thursday evening was Miss Evelyn Swetlick. Plans were made for a covered-dish picnic at Middle park Aug. 29. Contest prize winners were the Misses Rose Palundo and Pat Drotfrey. Refreshments were then served. Next regular meeting will be Sept. 3 at the home of Miss Angeline Stitalieri, Blymyer avenue.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Co-eds Wear Colorful Scarves

Left, wool mohair scarf; top right, Pick-a-Patch scarf; below, paisley model.

By SUSAN BARDEN
(International Illustrated News Writer)

THIS YEAR the college girl will depend on scarves more than ever—not only as color accents for her sweaters and dresses, but as double duty accessories.

Today's wartime co-ed will wear a scarf wound around her throat in a warm looking bulky effect for outdoor civilian defense assignments, and toss them around her shoulders in heat-rationed classrooms.

Glentex, one of our leading scarf designers, has created an extra special 'college collection for this campus term, introducing new student inspired designs and bringing classic favorites up to date.

Symbol of War Efforts

One of the new styles has used the patch as a symbol of women's efforts in the war conservation movement. Pick-a-Patch is the collegiate interpretation of this patch craze that is sweeping the country. The one pictured here is a simulated patchwork print in vivid colors, with hand-knotted wool fringe. The over-the-shoulders drape is one way of keeping warm in heat-rationed classrooms.

Like her non-academic sisters, the college girl has been on the lookout for new fabrics and she's found one in the Ice Mist, a lacy weave of all-wool mohair that's as soft as silk, delicate as lace and as warm as fur. This material is sheer enough to slip through a ring, and has that bulky look that collegians love. The one that is being modelled is worn around the neck for added warmth on open air civilian wartime assignments. For other occasions it can be twisted into a stunning turban to top a sports costume.

A paisley scarf is a necessity in any well-dressed student's wardrobe, and this season's choice is Shilly-Challis, a colorful square of rayon challis. College girls are wearing these well back on the head and tied snugly under the chin. This preserves the back curls without disturbing the pompadour or up-do.

Art Study Club Picnic Enjoyed At Talbot Home

Because of the inclement weather, the annual picnic of the Art Study club was held indoors yesterday at the home of Mrs. David R. Talbot, 720 Woodhill road. Thirty-three were present to enjoy the dinner at two long tables which were attractively decorated with garden flowers.

Guests were Mrs. Frank O. Todd of Georgetown, Pa., sister of Mrs. Talbot, and Mrs. C. M. Crafton, who will serve as a substitute at club meetings during the coming season. Mrs. Boyd Wierman, retiring president and chairman of the program committee, distributed the attractive red, white and blue "All American" program booklets for the year.

Plans were made to have the first meeting of the new year on Sept. 18. The club will visit the John Myers home in Ashland to view art treasures. Assisting Mrs. Wierman in planning the 1942-43 programs, were Mrs. Marion Brinkerhoff, Mrs. Richard Fensch and Mrs. Talbot. Mrs. William Keefe is the new president.

TANGUAY CLUB

Two tables of bridge were in play when Mrs. Forrest Wright entertained the Tanguay club at her home on South Main street Thursday afternoon. High score prizes were won by Mrs. Elmer Gottfried and Mrs. Anthony Majoy. Luncheon was served at small tables. Mrs. Melvin Welty will be hostess to the club at her home, 157 Rowland avenue, on Sept. 2.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, August 23.

Sunday's horoscope shows particularly lively and eventful developments in all sorts of cultural, intellectual and mystical matters. Writings, contracts and open as well as secret agreements may forge ahead with high tension and with successful results, despite petty annoyances.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a year of unusual action and liveliness in many directions and affecting all the life interests, business as well as private. Writings, correspondence, travel, change, agencies, publicity and kindred affairs should be under excellent stimulus for achievement. Personal pleasure, possibly romantic attachments, should thrive, despite trivial setbacks, impediments and surprises.

A child born on this day should be unusually talented and versatile, with fine intellectual equipment and artistic skill for any number of vocations.

For Monday, August 24.

Monday's astrological forecast is a momentous one, with promise of sudden upheavals, commotion, possibly spectacular doings perhaps having a far-reaching and radical effect on the future fortunes and adventues. While there may be uprooting and unpredictable change yet a stabilizing influence should give security and endurance to the future, through industry, dependability and sound possessions.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured a factor for tabilizing, concentrating and putting firm foundations under all efforts of security and progress, albeit this may be attended by radical change, uprooting, travel and spectacular adventures affecting the fortunes and destiny.

WORD comes from Hollywood concerning Marilyn Joyce Teeter, who left Mansfield recently to study theater. At the Max Reinhardt Junior Workshop she played the lead, Sadie, in "The Moppet." Marilyn Joyce has appeared at the Knickerbocker hotel, doing her Spanish dance, and besides making other appearances has several on schedule. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy S. Teeter, 60 Prospect street.

* * *

His many friends here will be interested to know that Dr. David R. Talbot, who is now with the navy medical corps, has arrived safely in Trinidad, according to letters received by his wife. Mrs. Frank O. Todd will return to her home in Georgetown, Pa., Sunday after visiting the past week with her sister, Mrs. Talbot, at 720 Woodhill road. . . . The Misses Glenna and Bess Wickert have returned from a trip to New York City. On Sept. 1, Glenna will return to East Cleveland, where she is art supervisor in the schools.

* * *

MISS JEANNE SCOTT, daughter of Mrs. M. H. Scott, 75 Helen avenue, has been visiting her family and friends here this week. She is employed at the Curtiss-Wright field in Dayton and is now a resident of that city. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Davison of Memphis, Tenn., have returned to their home after spending the past week with their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Swinney, Lincoln Heights.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. K. Eldon Johnson have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Marquis, Euclid avenue, and Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Love of Lorain. Mr. Johnson left Wednesday to enter the Engineers' Officer Candidate school at Fort Belvoir, Va. He had been stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. After several weeks' visit here, Mrs. Johnson will join her husband in Virginia. A reception for 80 guests was held at the Love home early this week in honor of the Johnsons, who were married recently.

D. of A. Picnic Held At North Lake Park

The Past Councilors' association of the Daughters of America had a picnic at North Lake park pavilion at 6 p. m. Friday. Bridge and bunco were played with Mrs. L. N. Watts receiving high score prize in bridge. Mrs. W. F. Kreisher winning in bunco, and Miss Geraldine Moser receiving guest award. Mrs. Ida Hunter was chairman for the evening. Mrs. Fannie Nail and her committee will have charge of arrangements for a meeting at the Eagles hall on Sept. 25.

* * *

HONOR MRS. TAYLOR.

Miss Mary Taylor and Mrs. D. A. Taylor of South Main street road, held a shower last evening in honor of Mrs. Robert Taylor. The time was spent playing bunco with prizes going to Mrs. Lola Keefer, Miss Mary Ann Maglott and Mrs. Paul Koozer, who in turn presented them to the honoree. Out-of-town guests were the Misses Wava McGinnis, Marion, and Nina Smith of Rock Falls, Ill.

Party Given For Mrs. Dale Rowan

Honoring Mrs. Dale Rowan, the former Mildred Keller, Mrs. R. F. Stull and Mrs. Homer Swift entertained Thursday evening at the home of the former, 59 Helen avenue. The guests spent the evening making a bride's book for Mrs. Rowan.

The bridegroom is a sergeant in the army, thus the appointments carried out a patriotic theme. Centerpiece for the luncheon table consisted of red and white gladioli and blue delphinium. The honoree was presented with a shower of crystal gifts from the guests. The hostesses and Mrs. Stull's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Cole, gave her china.

ANNOUNCE BIRTHS

CHAPTER V

"Why not?" Amy inquired. "I'd rather take care of a child than to operate a—a—what was the instrument you read to me about in the want ads—a punch press? I get along with children. I even have a few definite ideas about them. You see I helped a lot with my cousin Dorothy's children in Washington, and I lived for three years with people in France who had two children, a boy and a girl. I think they really liked me pretty well."

"Amy, you have — remember what I said about you the first night I met you? It was only a week ago, but it seems like a lifetime—do you remember I said you were tiny, but that you certainly were made of good material? Why you—"

His voice went husky—stopped. All of a sudden that little spot in Eden Park was an oasis of quiet, separated as by a miracle from the rest of the world—the automobiles on the winding roads and the clamor of the city down the hill. A bright leaf drifted down, touched his black hair and slipped to the ground. He looked at Amy as though he were going to kiss her.

Amy never knew afterward whether she actually stood on tiptoe or whether it was just that something in her heart rose to meet him. Suddenly he laughed crossly and hooked his arm through hers, he said, "Well now, me darlin', it's time I was taking you back to Mother Walsh's."

That spoiled the magic moment. Now there was constraint between them.

After Paul had opened Mrs. Walsh's front door for her he said, looking over her head, "I'll take you out to Frani's myself."

She said, looking down at the cut-out toe of her patent leather slipper, "That would hardly be businesslike."

"I suppose not," he agreed, staring at the stairway behind her. "But I'll make an appointment for you and prepare the way."

"Thank you," she said stiffly. "Good night."

* * *

Frani Dillingham's house was as Paul had described it, "beautiful and peaceful." Amy stood in the road outside the gate where she had alighted from the bus and studied it a little breathlessly. A solid stone Norman French structure, it looked as firmly rooted on its hill above the river as the great beech trees that surrounded it. Whoever had landscaped the estate had had the good sense to make the sweeping drives and masses of shrubs seem accidental. Paul had said the beauty of the place was not Frani's fault, but her husband Guy's.

Near the house the drive separated and there was a sign on one fork, "Service entrance." She wondered whether she ought to go to the side door or the front and then decided on the front door. "After all, I'm not a servant," she told herself. "I'm applying for a place as a teacher of a child."

As she rang the bell, she remembered having come up to such a doorway in front of an old chateau near the Pyrenees. She remembered the door opening to reveal a stately old Frenchman with a white-spade shaped beard and kind eyes that smiled upon his guests despite the boom of distant guns like far-off thunder across the mountains. It seemed to her at that moment that her whole world had been turned upside down. But that, she reminded herself was two—almost three years ago.

The door opened and a trim little maid stared past Amy into the drive with round astonished eyes that said, "Why, no car?"

"I have an appointment with Mrs. Dillingham for 10 o'clock this morning," Amy told her, attempting to keep the quaver out of her voice.

"In the study," the maid said, leading the way.

* * *

It was a pleasant room, very informal, a sort of family loafing place. It had dull green walls, soft and restful, a big desk and a miscellany of comfortable furniture. There were etchings above the bookcases and photographs that looked as though they had been put there not by the edict of some interior decorator, but because the various members of a family liked them.

One photograph was of a little girl with heavy black curls and an amusing scowl—like Paul's. That would be Daphne, of course. Over the desk there were two large photographs in a single frame. One was of Paul And the other—Amy had seen that serenely lovely face and the fair curling hair just once. But she recognized Marcia Fairbairne.

"I see you're interested in our family photographs." The voice was low and husky like a torch singer's.

Amy turned quickly. A woman in riding clothes leaned against the door, her very blue eyes amused. "That picture you were looking at is my brother, Paul, and his fiancee."

For a moment the words were meaningless. Then gradually Amy took in their significance.

His fiancee! For a bare second the gay-backed books and soft-toned pictures were blurred. But Amy dispelled the blur with one quick blink and brought back to focus the slim figure of Frani Dillingham.

Paul had been right when he had said his sister had the bluest eyes and the blackest hair you ever saw But he had been wrong about Frani's smile. He had said it was frank and sweet. It was frank but it was not sweet. You could see that Frani belonged to the school that prides itself upon it bluntness, that delights in saying things that startle and confuse.

* * *

But Amy had not traveled across half the world with a charming worldly-wise father for nothing. She fixed her shining brown eyes on Frani, in her nice well-modulated voice with its faint suggestion of clipped consonants she said, "I met Miss Fairbairne the morning I arrived in Cincinnati. Your brother introduced us. Mr. Bevan has probably told you that we came from Washington in the same car."

"Sit down," Frani commanded carelessly as she walked over to the desk in search of a cigaret. She didn't pass the box to Amy. She spent some time hunting through drawers and boxes for matches as though she were unconscious of Amy's presence.

Amy wasn't particularly offended. It occurred to her that Frani found it necessary to be rude and audacious because she wasn't quite sure of herself. Frani puffed at a cigaret two or three times before she flung herself on a couch, lying on her back, her hair a dark cloud against a crimson pillow, the heel of one trim riding boot digging into a priceless oriental rug.

"Well, what experience have you had?" she said.

"None," Amy said promptly. "That is, none professionally. I've spent a good deal of time with children. Madame Rougemont, with whom I lived in Paris for three years, had two lovely children and I used to—"

"You speak French well, don't you?"

"Yes."

"Where did you learn it?"

"By constant association with French people who spoke it beautifully. For three years I went to school in Paris. When I was quite small my father and I—"

"Yes, Paul told me about that. I guess you'll do. But it's really up to Daphne. I always let her make her own decisions . . . Daphne!" she called

"I'm bringing her, Mrs. Dillingham," a voice replied promptly from somewhere back in the house.

"Shut up, Margit!" a child's voice commanded. "I'm bringing myself."

"Shut your mouth," the little voice screeched a second later. "If you don't stop coming with me I'll swap you."

Daphne stamped into the room, a tiny creature in a snip of a yellow linen frock that barely covered her plump thighs. A yellow ribbon held a mass of black curls back from her face. Her straight black eyebrows were drawn together in a prodigious scowl that was funny only because she was so little.

She resembled Frani and Paul No, not altogether. The eyes that stared at Amy with disconcerting steadiness were a dark slate grey.

Finally she said, "I think you're pretty."

"That's nice of you," Amy returned.

"You're just as pretty as my mother. Only she's cross sometimes. Are you cross?"

"I try not to be," Amy said flushing a little.

"My mother doesn't try. She's cross whenever she wants to be," Daphne confided. "And I don't try either. I swapped my last maid. But I like you."

"Well, I guess that's that," Frani said. "It's all right as far as I'm concerned. But I'll have to talk to her father. He hated the last woman I engaged. He fired her."

"Would twenty dollars a week suit you?" Frani asked. "You'll get your room and board you know."

Amy wanted to say, "No, it wouldn't suit me. Nothing could induce me to come here." Then she looked down at the handsome handbag lying in her lap and the knowledge of its emptiness prodded her into saying, "Yes, that will be all right."

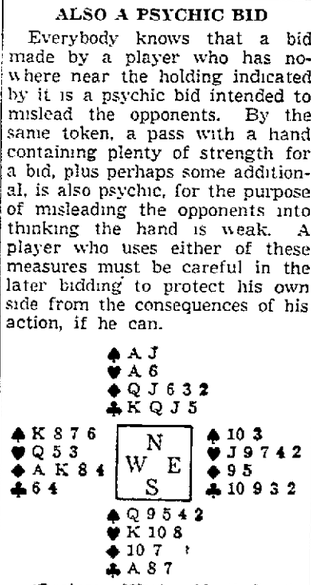
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

ALSO A PSYCHIC BID

Everybody knows that a bid made by a player who has nowhere near the holding indicated by it is a psychic bid intended to mislead the opponents. By the same token, a pass with a hand containing plenty of strength for a bid, plus perhaps some additional, is also psychic, for the purpose of misleading the opponents into thinking the hand is weak. A player who uses either of these measures must be careful in the later bidding to protect his own side from the consequences of his action, if he can.



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

	West	North	East	South
1.	Pass	1 ♦	1 ♥	1 ♠
	Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♠
	Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT
	Dbl
2.	1 ♦	Dbl	Pass	1 ♠
	Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 ♠
	Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 NT

What a terrific lecturing West took after this hand was played at Table 1. He had started with what he considered a "smart" pass of his good hand. East, thinking him weak, stuck in a psychic overcall, which West should later have read, after his vulnerable opponents went on to game. But, with his own strength concealed, he reckoned he was in ambush and so made a very dangerous double—a very costly one, when coupled with the playing he did.

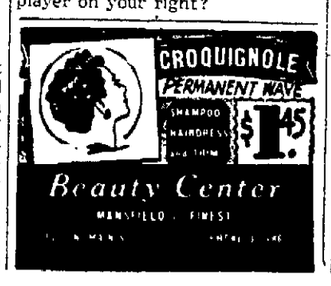
East led the heart 4 to the 8, Q and A. The spade A won, the J was ducked by West, the heart 10 was finessed, the spade Q fell to the K, and West had a chance now to try one of his top diamonds. He did not, however, but led the 4 of the suit, which dummy's 10 won. The spade 9 and 5 were now good for tricks, also the heart K, and four clubs finished the play, giving North three extra tricks doubled.

Where West made his natural opening, of either a spade or a diamond as shown at Table 2, North and South also got into 3-No Trumps and made their game without any difficulty, but scored nothing comparable, as they were not doubled and did not take all of those surplus tricks.

* * *

Your Week-End Lesson.

If your left-hand opponent makes a takeout or informative double over your original suit bid, your partner redoubles, and your right-hand opponent then bids a suit, what principle applies to the action you now should take? In other words, what is the message conveyed to you by your partner's redouble? What does it tell you to do with respect to a bid by the player on your right?



"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

LILLIAN'S voice was tremulous, eager, poignant with suffering. I wondered if Carolyn's apparent hardness and cynical stoicism could hold out against Marion's mother.

"I don't know whether she's asleep or not," I said, "but if you want to see her she shall come here immediately. Although she probably won't be in an amiable mood, she's not likely to take it out on you.

"I'm her bete noir. She strongly resented being locked into her room, even though I explained that it was meant only for her protection."

"Sapphira!" Lillian said with a wan smile.

Nurse Gives Permission.

"That is what Carolyn evidently thought," I returned "She said vehemently that she did not need our brand of protection, and was generally disagreeable. But we cannot leave her over there indefinitely, and since you want to see her, I'll rush her over. But," with a glance at Miss Whitlock, "do you feel strong enough to talk to her now?"

"Let me take your pulse first," said the nurse, stepping to Lillian's side, and a minute later she looked up with a smile.

"As I've told you so many times before, you're one of the seven original wonders, or is it eight?" she said. "Your pulse is as strong and regular as if you had been under no strain whatever, yet before you went to sleep—"

"The old pump was acting up," Lillian said. "I know all about it. Plenty of sleep is my salvation. So it's all right for me to talk to Carolyn now?"

"All right," Miss Whitlock said, "if you wish to."

"Then Madge," and Lillian looked at me appealingly, "would you mind going after her?"

"Not in the least," I told Lillian mendaciously, for I felt like anything in the world but seeing Carolyn Brixton.

Finds Room Empty.

I went down the corridor and after unlocking Carolyn's door, I rapped on it; at first softly, then, in mounting alarm at the silence, more loudly. Still there was no answer, and raising my voice I called insistently, "Carolyn, Carolyn! Wake up!"

No slightest sound came from inside the room, and alarmed almost to the point of panic, I pushed open the door and went in.

The room was empty. The bed showed a depression where the girl apparently had been lying.

Why, before looking further, I noiselessly locked the door, then put the key into my gown, I do not know.

As I stepped inside the bathroom, finding it also empty, there was a swish of garments behind me, and I turned to see Carolyn fully dressed and with her small overnight bag and purse in her hands, trying the door, to which she evidently had dashed from the clothes closet which I had not yet had time to search.

"Oh! Oh!" she said wildly as she tugged vainly at the door.

"You locked it again," she accused me with blazing eyes.

"Yes, after debating the question in my mind," I told her coolly. "The result shows that I was right, doesn't it?"

For an instant I thought she would strike me. Then the hand which had been clenched into a fist relaxed, the bag in her other hand dropped to the floor with a sound of breaking glass inside it and, turning, she flung herself downward upon the bed.

"Go away!" she muttered, then burst into wild, hysterical sobbing.

Jim Coleman of last year's Mansfield Braves has been in town the past few days visiting the Casper Schmidts of Ford avenue, and I am told he tried to look me up but I am a hard guy to find.

Somewhere or other I got the idea a long time ago that Jim was the first of last year's Braves to join the army, but now I learn that he is headed for the army in the very near future.

He has been pitching this summer in the Cleveland amateur ranks. And don't tell me this is a promotion from the Braves. They weren't amateurs, strictly.

"Are you the woman who washes?" said the sweet, young thing on the other end of the line as bowler Hazel Hilborn answered the phone at the Mansfield Towel Supply company.

"No," said Hazel.

"You must be awfully dirty then," came the quick retort.

"Grope, you mope," groaned the golfer who had lost his putting touch. "I putt with the same feeling of a guy contacting a blind date in a blackout."

Sixty-two candidates answered Jim McDonald's first practice call for Springfield high school gridders Wednesday, leaving Jim with the problem of quality instead of quantity for his Wildcats.

The former Ohio State fullback has few other worries, however. His 11 graduating men from last year's team include Elmer Bean, Jim Palmer, Jim Wolf, Bob Hesler, Butch Heaton, and Jack Horton, but he still has Brooks Lawrence, that needle-threading ball tosser who is just about the state of Ohio's best forward passer.

Mansfield Tygers go to Springfield on Oct. 23 for a night game. Just in case you're interested.

* * *

New Philadelphia, long a regular name on Mansfield's football schedule, and dropped last year, has given up all hopes of competing in "big time" football.

Coach Stan Plummer, former Coshocton satellite, is now trying to book Wooster as a regular name on his gridgram.

And what he's going to do about beating Dover, his across-the-creek opponent, I wouldn't know.

Gerry (pronounced Jerry) Edgar, favorite foe of the Provident Loan girls, and Irene (Queenie) Sellan, had their pictures in the Columbus Dispatch this week. And I never knew, until I saw her picture, that Jerry was such a good looking doll.

Musto Scores Win Over Savold

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Tony Musto, Chicago heavyweight, today was a step nearer a crack at champion Joe Louis' title after scoring a disputed decision over Lee Savold of Des Moines, Iowa.

* * *

The 199-pound Musto was given the verdict over Savold at Griffith Stadium last night when two judges voted for the Chicago fighter although the referee cast a ballot for Savold. The decision was greeted by 4,000 fans with mingled cheers and boos.

* * *

The victory was the most outstanding in Musto's career and an upset, since Savold entered the ring a 2 to 1 favorite with a record of 19 straight wins

Johnson, Ruth Help War Fund

American League Tries Late Relief Comeback.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE American league, which holds the upper hand over the National league in world series and all-star game performances of the past few years, will attempt to catch up with its older companion loop tomorrow in baseball's contributions to war relief.

Far behind the senior circuit in funds produced for the armed forces through receipts of designated games, the American league has pinned its hopes on the New York Yankees for boosting the total somewhere near the National league's gift of better than a quarter of a million dollars.

* *

The Yankees will be aided by the Washington Senators and both teams will have the help of their brightest stars of former years—Babe Ruth and Walter Johnson.

* * *

With Johnson pitching, Ruth will step to the plate between games and attempt to belt the ball out of the park, just as he did no less than 714 times in his 22 years as a major league player.

Advance ticket sales indicate a near-capacity crowd of more than 75,000.

Before yesterday's game which opened the New York-Washington series at the stadium, Ruth did a little practicing. Batting against Gerry Priddy, an infielder, the Babe drove three balls far back into the right field seats

After their former slugging star retired, the Yankees went out and blasted 21 hits off three Washington pitchers to crush the Senators, 17-7.

The Yankees needed the victory to preserve their $10\frac{1}{2}$ game margin, for the second-place Boston Red Sox whipped the Philadelphia Athletics, 7-5, in an arc light game, although they were out-hit, 12 to 11.

Cleveland's Indians squeezed out a 3-2 decision over the Chicago White Sox in another night game, strengthening their hold on third place with the help of the Detroit Tigers, who tripped the St Louis Browns.

* * *

Home runs by Barney McCosky and Rudy York sparked a four-run Tiger outburst which carried Detroit to a 4-1 decision over the Browns.

* * *

The National league program was confined to a pair of afternoon games, but in one of these the St Louis Cardinals walloped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-2, and reduced the lead of the idle Brooklyn Dodgers to six games and a half.

The Chicago Cubs routed Ray Starr and beat the Cincinnati Reds, 6-3, to give Bill Lee his 13th mound success.

Blues Climb Back In Race

Brush Off Saints In Double Header Win.

The Kansas City Blues, using St. Paul as a springboard, have picked up a half game on leading Columbus and now are back in the company of the top three teams of the American association's dizzy race to the pennant.

* * *

The Blues brushed off last-place St. Paul, 6-1 and 4-1, last night, while Columbus took a single game decision from Louisville, 7 to 1, and Milwaukee bested Minneapolis, 7 to 5.

* * *

Louisville's infield fell apart as Columbus won the series opener. Only earned run of the contest was Stan Benjamin's homer for the Colonels in the first inning.

Indianapolis derailed Toledo, 7 to 6, in an 11-inning battle.

Start Firing At Vandalia

VANDALIA—(AP)—The nation's top marksmen sought today to equal perfect records fired in the opening round of the three-day warm-up for the 43rd annual Grand American trapshooting tournament.

* * *

* * *

Ninety-nine shooters included C. H. Sears of Hapster, Wyandot county; Jerry Tanner of Kings Mills, Warren county, and Lela Hall of Strasburg, Mo., former national women's champion.

P. O. Harbage of West Jefferson, former national champion, and Fay Newlon, New Lexington, were among those shooting 98.

The championship events for $10,000 in prize money open Monday and continue through Friday.

BOUT BOOKED

NEW YORK —(AP)— A ten-round fight has been scheduled Sept. 15 in the Cleveland Arena between Tami Mauriello, young New York heavyweight, and Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland.

EIGHT START IN MEADOWLAND EVENT

CHICAGO —(INS)— A field of eight crack thoroughbreds were to go to the post today in the $7,500 Meadowland Handicap, the sixth and feature event of the day at Washington park racetrack.

Three of the turf's most consistent and experienced runners were to meet in a showdown for supremacy over a mile and a quarter journey. There were Marriage, Reading II, and Take Wing, all of whom set new American records within the past two months.

Calls Sugar Best Fighter

Writer Impressed by Robinson's Triumph.

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Accumulating evidence today tells us that the time has arrived to indulge in the ultimate in superlatives and admit that Ray "Sugar" Robinson — a slender young Negro from Harlem—is the greatest all-round fighter we ever have seen.

* * *

We say this after Robinson's impressive second-round technical knockout last night over Ruben Shank of Denver, Colo., an accomplishment that many experts will shrug off as "just one of those things."

* * *

But it wasn't "just one of those things." Despite the betting odds of 4-1, young Robinson tackled one of the most dangerous men he ever faced in awkward, bobbing, weaving young Shank. The unorthodox youngster was battering Robinson from rope to rope for the first minute and a half of the second round, proving himself a mighty tough kid—a kid who had licked the former welterweight champions, Henry Armstrong and Fritzie Zivic—a lad who never had been knocked out.

But when Robinson — Harlem's dancing dynamiter—finished with Cowboy Shank, he left his spurs jingle-jangle-jingling in such fashion that Referee Billy Cavanagh could have counted 50 over him instead of stopping the scheduled 10-round fight with Shank on the floor for the fourth time in that second round

The finishing punch was a straight right hand that almost drove the brown-haired westerner through the ropes. But the ropes served as a barrier and bounced the Coloradan back into the resin dust on the canvas. Cavanagh mercifully stepped in at 2.26 of the second frame, stopping the bout—as he had wanted to do a few seconds before, when Shank had taken the count of nine for the third time.

Shank had gone into the ring with recently healed gashes over his right eye and at the corner of his mouth. Robinson was expected to win in five or six rounds. The flow of blood supposedly would cost Shank the fight.

But there wasn't a fleck of blood on Shank when he hit the deck for the fourth time—he was merely belted out quickly by the most explosive puncher the welterweight division has known since the heydey of Jimmy McLarnin, almost a decade ago.

* * *

But the 21-year-old Ray Robinson of today shapes up as a greater fighter than McLarnin ever was because he couples blinding speed afoot with just as much dynamite as McLarnin ever packed. And he's a smart, deadly-effective boxer.

* * *

Young Robinson has hammered his way into the hall of fame if for no other reason than his all-time record of 123 victories as an amateur and professional. He is unbeaten since he first started tossing leather. Last night he scored his 26th knockout among 34 professional victories.

We, personally, rate Robinson a greater all-around fighter than Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, who never has had to face the opposition that Robinson already encountered and who has virtually no footwork.

Louis is a straight-forward shuffler who depends upon always being in position to hit from a firm-footed stance, regardless of the hand or body feints he uses to make an opponent move so that he can counter with deadly effectiveness. But the mortal sin of all shufflers is simply that they can't move their mid-section when a dynamiting body puncher attacks. Louis has been singularly fortunate that he never met such a body-puncher.

All Star Gridders Start Against Bears August 28

Football's annual dream game, the All-Star game in Chicago, is scheduled for Aug. 28 this year. The All-Star collegians meet the Chicago Bears, pro champions, at Soldiers' Field. A crowd as high as 80,000 is expected to witness the clash.

Sophomores Hold Hopes

Buckeyes Start Season With Green Material.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Five weeks from opening kickoff, Ohio State University's 1942 footbal hopes revolved today around a crop of untried sophomores.

Coach Paul E. Brown, issuing his initial practice call, summoned 24 sophomores, 16 juniors and three seniors Some of the sophomores may win starting berths, but all must be good enough to provide the vital reserve strength needed by Brown in molding a top-flight Western Conference team from the handful of available veterans.

* * *

Practice starts Sept. 7, with twice-a-day sessions through Sept. 19. Then the squad will taper off with once-a-day workouts until the opening tilt with the Army's Fort Knox team in the Stadium, Sept. 26.

* * *

Ordering the candidates to report Sept. 5 for uniform fittings and physical examinations, Brown said:

"From the time we gather on Sept. 5 until the last game is completed, we shall be together constantly. We'll fight it out, for better or worse, as just one solid group.

"We are faced with a long (10-game) and most difficult schedule. You must be at your best, both physically and mentally, to meet it Between now and when you report it is absolutely imperative that you work out daily. If you report out of condition you simply do not represent our type of man—and we can't use you."

Reviewing the tough competition faced this year, Brown pointed to Michigan as the Conference season windup game and declared:

* * *

"We would rather lick them than all the rest of our opponents put together."

* * *

Brown's Bucks last year gave him a successful first season in the Western Conference, losing only one game and tying a favored Michigan eleven 20-20.

Nineteen veterans, only a few of whom saw consistent service last season, will be available this year.

Rams Trample Over Steelers

EAST LIVERPOOL—(AP)—The Cleveland Rams and their No. 1 forward passer, Parker Hall, are off to an auspicious start on their 1942 grid campaign

* * *

They trampled the Pittsburg Steelers, 35 to 6, last night in an exhibition game played for the benefit of civilian defense funds in East Liverpool and Wellsville, and today were back in their Hiram camp preparing for their Aug. 30 date in Akron with the New York Giants.

Hall scored two of Cleveland's touchdowns—the first on a three-yard end run and the second on a 93-yard return of a kickoff, and two of his passes figured in the Rams' third and fourth markers.

WEHRLE CAPTURES AMATEUR TITLE

CHICAGO —(INS)— Young Wilfred Wehrle of Racine, Wis., a lad who has been around in amateur golf fo a long time, today held the Chicago national amateur golf championship after an uphill battle with Steve Kovach, Pittsburgh steel worker.

The match ended at the 33rd green, 4 and 3.

Crucial Series Booked In Nad-A

CHARLESTON, W. Va —(AP)— Second-place Dayton and league-leading Charleston clash tonight in the first of a three game series that will be a deciding factor in the Mid-Atlantic league pennant race.

The Ducks defeated Zanesville 7 to 4 last night to move within three and one-half games of the loop leaders.

Canton decisioned Erie 6 to 5 to capture third place, which it lost just a month ago when Dayton stepped ahead of the Terriers in the first stages of its drive to overtake Charleston.

Springfield and Charleston were idle last night

BUTLER WINS IN JUNIOR SINGLES

In the men's division Joe Massa defaulted to M. L. Stearns.

ELIMINATED

WICHITA, Kas. — (AP) — The Anchor-Hocking Glass team of Lancaster, O., was eliminated by the Milwaukee Heils, 6 to 4, in the National semi-pro baseball tournament last night. A 4-4 tie was broken in the eighth inning when Milwaukee scored on an error, a double and single

Harder Hurls Tribe Winner

Indians Strengthen Hold on Third Place.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Still without departing from their "good pitching, weak hitting" formula, the Indians held a steadier grip on third place today, thanks to their adroitness in backing into a 3 to 2 conquest of the White Sox

While Mel Harder was hurling five-hit ball last night, the Tribe took all the Chicagoans would give them, collecting the deciding run in the fifth inning when Pitcher Leftja Lee hit Oris Hockett with the bases full.

Infield errors helped Cleveland to its pair of runs in the second. Jeff Heath walked, went to second as Don Hollaway fumbled Buster Mills' hot grounder, and scored on a fly by Les Fleming. Roy Weatherly, running for Mills, tallied the other run when Joe Kuhel missed Holloway's throw of what was intended to be a double play ball.

Chicago's first run came in the fourth, on Taft Wright's triple and Kuhel's fly. The Sox concocted another in the fifth without getting a hit. A walk, a bad throw by Gene Desautels, a sacrifice, another walk and a fly turned the trick.

Ray Mack, who has been on the bench, accounted for three of the Redskins' seven hits in four times at bat. His single started Cleveland's drive in the fifth, and was followed by Desautels' single and an intentional walk to Lou Boudreau, filling the bases. Lee's first pitch hit Hockett, forcing in the pay-off run.

By winning as the Browns were losing, Cleveland stretched its margin over St. Louis to two full games, and now is five behind Boston.

North Lake Juniors Lose

Winning Streak of 16 Straight Games Broken.

After winning 16 straight games North Lake Juniors finally met their nemesis yesterday in the All Stars of the Boy's league. Presenting by far the strongset line-up of the series, the All Stars took the Juniors by a score of 9 to 6

The All Stars opened the fire works in the first inning by scoring two runs. North Lake came back in their half of the second inning to tie the score

* * *

There was no further scores until the top half of the fifth, when the All Stars garnered two more markers, running the count to 4 to 2. Then in the final two innings the All Stars picked up three runs in the sixth and two in the seventh to make a total of nine.

* * *

Last half of the seventh saw North Lake coming back strong in a desperate attempt to overcome the huge lead of the Stars, by scoring four runs through three walks and a hit and another walk and a single which gave them a total of six runs for the ball game.

Count in games: North Lake Jrs. 2; All Stars 1 These two teams will meet again Monday at 10 a. m. at North Park

Toledo Krantz Defeats Lorain

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Eight teams clashed today in the second half of first-round play in the annual Ohio Softball tournament.

Toledo Krantz, defending state champions, won a place in tonight's quarter-finals by defeating Lorain CIO 2 to 0 last night.

Columbus Ferguson Auditors eliminated Youngstown Donnell Fords 2-1; Canton Mats, Inc., down De Graff 11 to 5, and Dayton blanked Fort Hayes, 1 to 0.

The titleholders garnered only one hit, a double in the fourth, but two errors made it good for two runs. Dayton's lone score came in the fourth on a walk, a sacrifice and an error. The Auditors pushed over the winning run in the extra eighth inning. Canton tallied four in the sixth to break a two-all tie, then came back with five more in the seventh to crush De Graff.

Semi-finals will be played tomorrow afternoon and the championship will be decided that night.

You can easily remove fish odor from the hands in clear water, and while they are wet, rub about a tablespoon of dry salt over the hands. Next rinse in clear water again, then wash well with soap. The salt does the trick.

There is a fish which pulls a cover over himself before he goes to sleep. He is the sting ray, who makes his "bed" on the bottom of the ocean. Fanning the sands with his pectoral fins, he lies quietly while the sand falls on his broad back. The sand covers his entire huge body, with the exception of his eyes.

Oil Production Boosted For September; Lumber Output Shows Decline.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading stocks today added small fractions to Friday's modest market advances.

At a quiet opening gainers included Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Douglas Aircraft, Reynolds Tobacco "B," Goodrich and U. S. Rubber. U. S. Steel was a trifle lower, along with General Motors.

Holders of oils noted the announcement of the Petroleum Co-ordinator's office that a production rate of 4,066,500 barrels daily of all petroleum liquids had been set for September. This compares with 4,038,500 in August.

Studied for trend clues was the survey of the National Lumber Manufacturers association which indicated that lumber output and new orders during the week ended Aug. 15 fell below the preceding week and the like period a year ago.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on the 4th day of August, 1942, there was presented to the Board of Commissioners of Richland County, Ohio, a petition signed by Leslie K. Wagner as Solicitor of the City of Mansfield and upon the authorization of the Council of the City of Mansfield as authorized by Section 3580 General Code, praying therein that the following described territory be annexed to the City of Mansfield, Ohio in the manner provided by law:

Situate in the township of Madison, County of Richland, State of Ohio and being a part of the southeast quarter of section 15, township 21 range 15, and bounded on the north side by Vine Street and a projection of Vine Street on the east side by Fifth Avenue, on the south side by Grace Street and on the west side by Dewey Avenue, as appears in Plat Deed of Bell Heights, Volume 7, page 31 of the official Plat Records of Richland County, Ohio.

The said Board of Commissioners has fixed the 7th day of October, 1942, at 10 o'clock A. M. at the office of the Commissioners in Richland County as the date for hearing on said petition for annexation to the City of Mansfield.

LESLIE K. WAGNER,

matter of life and death for us. Remember, we have no other place to go."

And so it was. Americans and British, at that time, could and were leaving the Orient for places of refuge outside the danger zone. For the Dutch in the East Indies, there was none.

General Hein Ter Poorten, later to become commander-in-chief of the army, had been showing me maps and statistics, the whole defense picture. He gestured with his big hands. "Well, there it is. I hope they don't come now. We need another year, at least."

The general got only a few months. On Dec. 8, 1941, the Indies' fighting forces were far from ready. Yet, without hesitation, they fought.

The problem of the Indies was the problem of all the democracies —materiel. Defense began too late.

Perhaps that was more understandable in the case of the Dutch than for any other people. They had ridden out the last European war. Hollanders in Holland perhaps felt safe. Those in the East Indies never did. Gen. Ter Poorter, for years, had argued for an adequate airforce. The navy leader, Admiral Conrad E. L. Helfrich, had made a nuisance of himself pleading for big ships, to be assigned solely for the defense of the Indies.

But The Hague was half a world away from Java and Sumatra, and defense appropriations had come in dribbles.

Then the second World war, and on May 10, 1940, the German army surged into Holland. The Dutch fought, and it was a preview of what was to come in the Indies. Within 10 days, Holland was overrun.

The Indies reeled under the shock. Then they steadied, and just in time. Within a month, the Axis menace was on their northern horizon. (When France and Holland fell, Japan immediately pressed demands in French Indo-China and the Netherlands Indies. The French gave in; the Dutch did not.)

Japan sent two economic missions to Batavia. The first demand was for more Indies oil; the second presented requests which would have given Tokyo complete economic dominance in the Indies. The Tokyo newspaper, Asahi, said openly: "If the Dutch will not shake hands with us, we must use force."

Then began the race against time.

The East Indies fleet, built around three cruisers, was barely a good scouting force. The army mustered 100,000 men at most, counting native regiments. In the airforce, there were about 500 planes, only half of them first-line.

Purchasing commissions scurried to America, offering any price for planes, tanks, guns. Necessarily, British needs took priority. The Dutch got some help, but it wasn't enough.

Meanwhile, shrewd Dr. Hubertus van Mook, head of the department of economics in Batavia, was stalling off the Japanese. His problem was to evade Japanese demands, without bringing the crisis to a head. From January through June, 1941, he stalled. Finally, the Japanese went home, virtually empty-handed.

Six months had been gained.

The civilian population was working furiously. Every man and woman had a job. Youngsters in their teens were in some kind of service. The 3,000-mile-long necklace of islands buzzed with activity. It was a desperate race against time, but, without modern armament, it was, from the start, a lost cause.

Even when the war came, it might not have been too late to make a deal with Japan.

It was a fair and smiling land, and the Dutch fought to save it. They tried hard.

The group will go to Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm at 6 p. m. today for a barbecue supper and meeting. Following the session at Malabar farm, the League's executive committee will meet at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

An emergency conference set for Sunday at 10 a. m., at the hotel will be devoted to discussions of the sportsman's place in the war program and the maintenance of conservation projects during the war. Speakers will be Richard Lindemann, League president; Dr. Lawrence Hicks of Ohio State university; Hugh J. Pharies, special FBI agent, and Brooks Burnside, agricultural agent for the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Other discussions of special interest to hunters and fishermen are on the Sunday afternoon program. Discussions will be headed by Bryce Browning, executive secretary of the Muskingum Conservancy district; O. A. Alderman, chief Ohio Forester; and A. W. Short, chief of the Ohio game management bureau.

Closing the program Sunday will be dedication ceremonies at the Johnny Appleseed Boy Scout forest at Charles Mill lake. The program will start at 5:30 p. m.

SELLS CYCLES— CAN'T RIDE ONE

Boston Woman Runs Bike Shop But Can't Navigate as Yet.

BOSTON—(U.P.)—Mrs. Anna Pugnetti can't ride a bicycle, but she's probably sold and repaired more than any other New England woman.

An attractive brunet, Mrs. Pugnetti has operated a tiny bicycle shop in the North End since her husband's death five years ago. As a sideline, she also serves most of the city's hospitals, repairing and retreading wheelchairs.

When her husband was alive he tried to teach Mrs. Pugnetti to ride, but without success. Now she thinks she may take it up again.

"Lots of people like myself are going to learn to ride bicycles before the war is over," she says. "Lots of us are going to like it and continue the sport as long as we can. I think I'll be one of them."

Business now is booming at her shop and Mrs. Pugnetti has had to hire a mechanic to help her repair bicycles that are being put into use because of gasoline and tire rationing.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Bicycle Stolen—Kenneth Buhr, 24 Glenbeck lane, told police last night that his bicycle was stolen from where he had parked it on Park avenue west last night.

Abandoned Car — Police this morning towed to a garage an auto which had been parked two days in front of the residence of J. M. Strickler, 465 Park avenue west.

Lights Sought — Nearly 20 property owners of Poplar street have filed a petition with city council asking installation of street lights from Ohio street south to the end of Poplar.

Check Charge — Ralph O. Reynolds, arrested by Sheriff Frank Robinson on an affidavit filed by Floyd Banks, jr., yesterday was held to the county grand jury on charge of issuing an $8 check without sufficient funds on deposit. Bond was fixed at $1,000.

Family Reunion—Members of the Kuhn family will enjoy a reunion Sunday in the north pavilion of Seltzer park in Shelby. Glenn Kuhn is president and a program has been arranged by a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. David Crall and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook of Shelby.

Change Countermanded — A change in the schedule of the Erie train, the Pacific Express, which was to have left Mansfield westbound at 7:26 p. m. beginning Sunday, has been countermanded and the train will continue to leave at 7:01 p. m., J. W. Gilkinson, Erie ticket agent, said today.

Woman Fined — Katherine Gonzalez, North Main street, yesterday was fined $20 and assessed costs of $8.55 when she pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct in arraignment before Municipal Judge E. B. Kalbfleisch. The woman engaged in a fight with a man at a North Main street saloon, police said.

Boy to Be Speaker—Edward Newitt, a 16-year-old Youngstown boy, is to be on the program at next Tuesday's meeting of the Mansfield Rotary club, to speak on the subject, "My Six Years In England." The meeting will be at Westbrook Country club with Charles E. Nail as program chairman.

Drivers Arrested — David Narten, Cleveland, was arrested yesterday charged with speeding 55 miles an hour on Lexington avenue. Robert J. Early, 186 South Mulberry street, is charged with driving 44 miles an hour at Sturges and Rhein avenues, while Frank Kruso, jr., Mansfield R. D. 1, is charged with speeding 42 miles an hour on Sturges avenue near Blanche street.

Driver Fined — Pleading guilty to a charge of illegal use of a spotlight on his automobile, Lester G. Shriver, 24, of Ashland was fined $10 and costs yesterday afternoon in Police Judge Harold E. Andrews' court at Ashland. State highway patrolmen who arrested Shriver early yesterday morning on U. S. route 42 said that Shriver was shining the spotlight into the windshield of an approaching car.

Daughter Born—A message announcing the birth of a daughter, Meredith Ann, to Mr. and Mrs. Ottie Cochran, Pittsburgh, has been received by Mrs. Cochran's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Conn, 57 Bartley avenue.

THEATERS

Starlet Appears.

Patty Hale, Mansfield starlet, is among the drawing cards at the Ohio this week-end. She appears in the singing and dancing short, "The Daughter of Rosie O'Grady," in which Al Shean of the noted vaudeville team, Gallagher and Shean, also appears. In the main attraction, "Crossroads," William Powell forsakes the glib roles of "Nick Charles" in the "Thin Man" series to become the harassed victim of a blackmail plot. Hedy Lamarr, Basil Rathbone, Reginald Owen and H. B. Warner are in the cast.

* * *

Academy Thriller.

"Ten Gentlemen From West Point," the Madison attraction, presents the absorbing story of the famous U. S. military academy in the early days of its existence. The plot specifically concerns the adventures of the first graduating class on whose record depends the life of the academy. George Montgomery has the role of one of the "10 gentlemen" while Laird Cregar enacts the commandant. Others in the cast are John Sutton, Maureen O'Hara and Douglas Dumbrille. "Night In New Orleans," the second feature, has Preston Foster and Patricia Morrison.

* * *

Unusual Story.

The carefree life of California's paisanos is pictured in "Tortilla Flat," filmization of John Steinbeck's picturesque novel, showing at the Ritz. Spencer Tracy has one of the main roles as leader of the group while Frank Morgan plays a man of simple faith whom the band seeks to fleece but later befriends. Hedy Lamor and John Garfield are among the players. "True to the Army," with Allan Jones, Judy Canova and Ann Miller is the second attraction.

* * *

Sea Adventure.

Based on one of Jack London's tales, "Adventures of Martin Eden," the Park attraction gives Glenn Ford the stirring role of a seaman who fought brutality and social injustice with two fists and poetry. Claire Trevor plays the waterfront girl who joins in the fight to help him while Evelyn Keyes appears as a waterfront girl also out to befriend the seaman. Stuart Irwin has one of his few dramatic roles in the picture. Margie Hart in "Lure of the Islands," is the second attraction.

BYE TILLIE
BYE
MY LITTLE GIRL IS GOING TO BE A SOLDIER
TILLIE, YOU BILLED BLIBBITS AND CO. FOR 67.36_SHOULDN'T IT BE 68.86?
WHY, YES, $68.86 IS RIGHT
MY WORD_FUSSING OVER A MEASLY $1.50 AT A TIME LIKE THIS_SAY, HE MUST HAVE DROPPED THIS LETTER
DEAR TILLIE_IT SEEMS SORDID TO GIVE MONEY, BUT I CAN THINK OF NOTHING ELSE_HERE'S A CHECK FOR TWO MONTHS' SALARY
RUSS COLSTOVER
I'M SO THRILLED TO BE ABOUT TO DON THE UNIFORM OF MY COUNTRY
HERE'S YOUR CAP, TOO
MY JOB IS TO SEE TO THE ALTERATIONS
BELIEVE ME, THIS IS AN OCCASION I'LL NEVER FORGET
MERCY! THE UNIFORM FITS YOU PERFECTLY, YOU WON'T NEED A SINGLE ALTERATION
GOOD GRIEF! YOU'RE RIGHT
SAY, WHEN THAT HAPPENS TO A WOMAN IT IS AN OCCASION SHE'LL NEVER FORGET YOU SAID IT!

I WONDER WHAT MY GRANDFATHER WOULD SAY, IF HE COULD SEE ME IN MY COUNTRY'S UNIFORM
WHY, HELLO, TILLIE
WHY, HELLO, GRANDPA
SAY, COULD YOU GIVE ME AN INTRODUCTION TO THAT CUTE WAAC YOU WERE TALKING TO?
RUSS COLSTOVER 8-20
MISS JONES, THE PRESIDENT HAS HONORED YOU BY CHOOSING YOU TO BE THE FIRST WAAC GENERAL
GEE!
OH, DEAR
OH, I COULD KILL THAT BUGLER
WHY, I FEEL KIND OF SORRY FOR HIM_THINK HOW MUCH EARLIER HE HAS TO GET UP THAN WE DO
RUSS COLSTOVER
BOY, YESTERDAY WAS STRENUOUS AND THIS EARLY RISING GETS ME_SAY, WHAT'S THAT BUGLE CALL?
THAT?
FOR VICTORY BUY UNITED STATES WAR BONDS AND STAMPS
THAT MEANS COME GET YOUR PILLS
WELL, I DON'T NEED ANY PILLS
THERE'S ANOTHER BUGLE CALL_WHAT'S THAT?
OH, THAT'S FATIGUE CALL
THEN I GUESS I DO GO ON THAT! I'M SURE FATIGUED

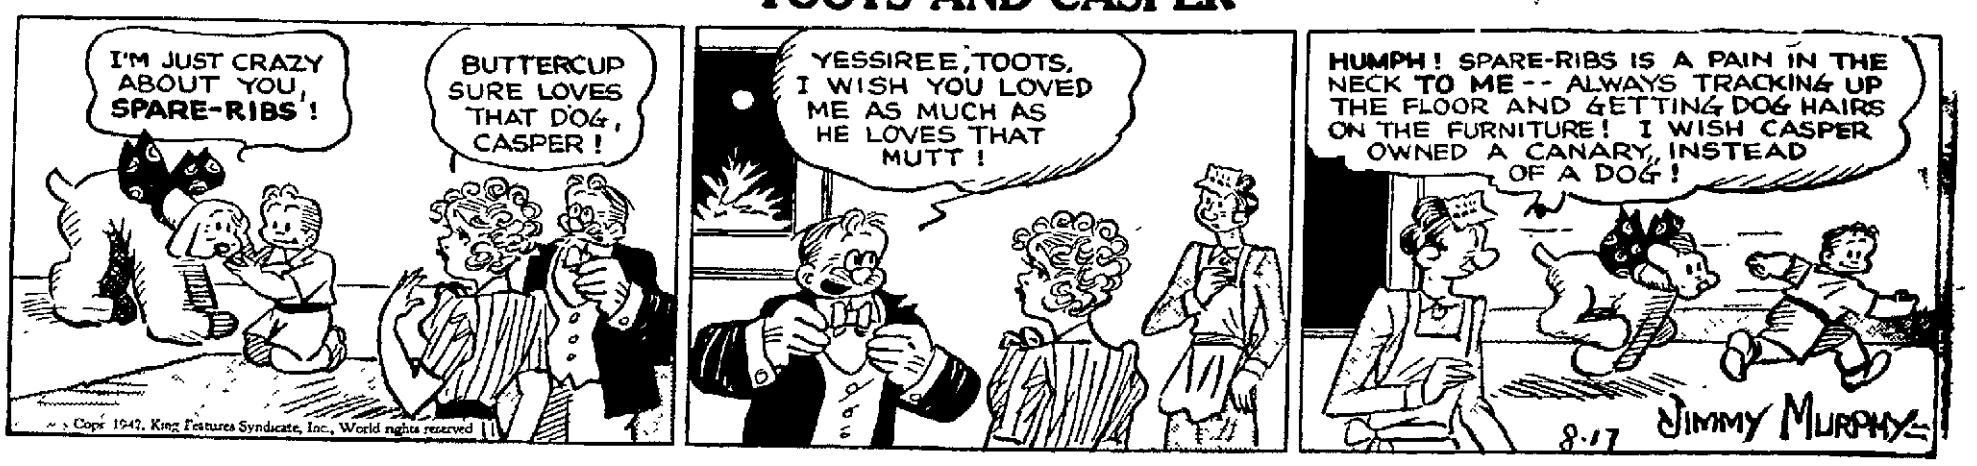
TOOTS AND CASPER



I'M JUST CRAZY ABOUT YOU, SPARE-RIBS!
BUTTERCUP SURE LOVES THAT DOG, CASPER!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
YESSIREE, TOOTS, I WISH YOU LOVED ME AS MUCH AS HE LOVES THAT MUTT!
HUMPH! SPARE-RIBS IS A PAIN IN THE NECK TO ME -- ALWAYS TRACKING UP THE FLOOR AND GETTING DOG HAIRS ON THE FURNITURE! I WISH CASPER OWNED A CANARY, INSTEAD OF A DOG!
8-17
JIMMY MURPHY
THERE GOES THAT DOG, TRACKIN' UP THE KITCHEN FLOOR AGAIN AND I JUST SCRUBBED IT!
WOOF! WOOF!
HELLO, KATILKA!!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
MOMMY, I CAN RUN FASTER THAN SPARE-RIBS!
YOU'LL WEAR HIM OUT. IF YOU DON'T QUIT PLAYING WITH HIM SO MUCH, BUTTERCUP!
JIMMY MURPHY
TOOTS, THE BOSS WANTS ME TO GO ON THE ROAD FOR A WEEK ON BUSINESS, BUT I HATE TO LEAVE YOU!
I'D LIKE TO GO WITH YOU, BUT I'D HATE TO LEAVE BUTTERCUP, AND IF WE TOOK HIM, HE'D HATE TO LEAVE SPARE-RIBS!
NOW WATCH FOR A SITUATION TO DEVELOP!!!
8-18

YOU CAN COME WITH ME ON MY BUSINESS TRIP, TOOTS. BUT WHAT ABOUT BUTTERCUP?
IT WOULD BE TOO ROUGH A TRIP FOR HIM, AND HE WOULDN'T BE HAPPY WITHOUT SPARE-RIBS!!
BUT KATILKA WILL TAKE GOOD CARE OF THEM, CASPER!
SURE, KATILKA WILL WATCH 'EM LIKE A HAWK!!
YES, MR. CASPER, I WON'T LET 'EM OUT OF MY SIGHT!
Copr. 1942 King Features Syndicate Inc. World rights reserved
BOSS, WE'LL LEAVE TOMORROW, AND WATCH ME BRING IN THE ORDERS! ALL IT TAKES TO GET ALONG IN THIS WORLD IS PERSONALITY AND NERVE, AND I'VE GOT BOTH!
JIMMY MURPHY
8-19

BE A GOOD BOY WHILE WE'RE AWAY, BUTTERCUP!
AND MIND KATILKA, DEAR--YOU'RE IN HER CHARGE NOW!
I'LL TAKE GOOD CARE OF HIM, MR. CASPER! I'LL WATCH HIM EVERY MINUTE!

MY STARS! SPARE-RIBS HAS BEEN OUT IN THE MUD AGAIN!
HEAVENS, SPARE-RIBS! YOUR BIG FEET MAKE FOOT PRINTS LIKE AN ELEPHANT'S!
JIMMY MURPHY

SPARE-RIBS! HERE, SPARE-RIBS! WHERE ARE YOU?
HEY, BUTTERCUP! THE DOG-CATCHER GOT "SPARE-RIBS"!
WHAT?
I LOVE DOGS, BUT THAT "SPARE-RIBS" IS A HEADACHE TO ME! I SPENT THE WHOLE DAY BRUSHING DOG HAIRS OFFA THE FURNITURE!!
JIMMY MURPHY
KATILKA! KATILKA! THE DOG-CATCHER GOT SPARE-RIBS!

HOORAY! LET HIM COOL HIS HEELS THERE A COUPLE OF DAYS!
I WANT MY DOGGIE BACK!
Copr. 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
EXTRA! THE DOG-CATCHER JUST CAUGHT SPARE-RIBS
KATILKA, WHY DID THE DOG-CATCHER CATCH SPARE-RIBS?
BECAUSE HE HASN'T GOT A DOG LICENSE?
HOW DO YOU GET A DOG LICENSE?
YA GOTTA PAY THE CITY $3.00 FOR ONE, BUTTERCUP.
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
THEN HOW CAN I GET SPARE-RIBS BACK?
BY PAYIN' THEM $3.00 WITHIN THREE DAYS OR THEY KILL HIM!

SECRET AGENT X-9

BEGINNING... THE AXIS CHAIN!
I WISH THE VERDICT AGAINST THESE AXIS SPIES WOULD TEND TO DISCOURAGE THE GUYS BACK HOME FROM SENDING ANOTHER BATCH OVER, X-9!...BUT I DOUBT IF IT WILL!
I'D LIKE TO BE IN THE WILHELMSTRASSE AND SEE WHAT THE WARP-BRAINS ARE COOKING UP NEXT, CHIEF!
IT COULD BE DONE, AT THAT —I'LL BET!
FORGET IT...YOU'RE NOT GOING!
AT THIS VERY MOMENT...
HERR DOCTOR RANK... A SHORT-WAVE REPORT! THE YANKEE SWINE HAVE FOUND OUR MEN GUILTY!
MEL GRAFF
WHAT IS THIS ABOUT OUR MEN BEING CONVICTED OF ESPIONAGE IN AMERICA?
IT IS TRUE, HERR DOCTOR WELT...THE NEWS HAS JUST BEEN BROADCAST!
OH, THOSE FILTHY, FOUL, MURDEROUS AMERICANS! THE DAY IS COMING WHEN THEY SHALL PAY FOR EACH OF THOSE COURAGEOUS YOUNG GERMANS!
JUSTICE IN AMERICA IS NOTHING SHORT OF A FARCE!
BUT TO THINK OF THE GREAT THINGS THOSE FINE YOUNG MEN COULD HAVE DONE FOR THE REICH...
MEL GRAFF
...THE FACTORIES THEY COULD HAVE BLOWN UP! THE WORKERS THEY COULD HAVE KILLED! THE PANIC THEY COULD HAVE CAUSED!
HERE IS THE SPECIAL N.C. FILE THAT YOU REQUESTED, HERR DOCTOR RANK!
GOOD! LEAVE IT AT MY DESK.
THIS IS A FILE OF FORMER COUNTRYMEN, NOW CITIZENS OF OTHER NATIONS... WHAT MAKES IT SPECIAL, IS THAT THEY ALL HAVE RELATIVES LIVING HERE IN THE HOMELAND...
...ALL BUT A FEW ARE LOYAL TO THEIR NEW COUNTRIES... BUT WITH THEIR RELATIVES UNDER OUR THUMB, WE STILL WIELD SOME CONTROL!
MEL GRAFF
FOR EXAMPLE, HERE IS ONE NAMED HANS SAXE, AS HE LOOKED WHEN HE LEFT FOR AMERICA FIFTEEN YEARS AGO!
HM-M! HIS MOTHER AND SISTER STILL LIVE HERE.... I THINK HANS SAXE CAN BE "PERSUADED" TO WORK FOR US!
WHAT DO YOU THINK, HERR DOCTOR WELT?
WITH A MOTHER AND SISTER STILL LIVING HERE, HANS SAXE CAN BE "PERSUADED" TO DO HELPFUL WORK FOR HIS FORMER HOMELAND!
THE FILE SHOWS THAT HE IS NOW WORKING AT AN AIRCRAFT PLANT IN AMERICA — GOOD!
I WILL HAVE THE MOTHER AND SISTER CONTACTED AT ONCE!
SOME TIME LATER...IN A MOUNTAIN VILLAGE...
KURT! WHAT IS IT?
MOTHER — AN OFFICER IS COMING IN A CAR!
HEIL HITLER!
HEIL HITLER!
YES? WHAT DO YOU WISH?
MEL GRAFF
FRAU SAXE?
I AM FRAU SAXE'S DAUGHTER. WHAT IS IT YOU WISH?... KURT, DEAR, RUN ALONG AND PLAY.
I WISH TO SPEAK WITH YOUR FRAU MOTHER, IF I MAY!
I...I'M AFRAID YOU CAN'T — — SHE'S DEAD.
I'M SORRY..IN THAT CASE, I WILL HAVE TO ASK YOU TO BE GOOD ENOUGH TO ACCOMPANY ME!
THE FOREIGN OFFICE DESIRES TO SEE YOU... WILL YOU COME AT ONCE?
WH— WHY? WHAT IS IT THEY WANT OF US?
MEL GRAFF
MOTHER, WHAT DOES THE OFFICER WANT? WHERE ARE WE GOING?
HE IS TAKING US TO THE CITY, KURT...TO THE FOREIGN BUREAU!
WHY, MOTHER? WHOM ARE WE GOING TO SEE?
THE OFFICER WOULDN'T SAY, DEAR.
THIS IS GOING TO BE LOTS OF FUN, ISN'T IT?
MEL GRAFF

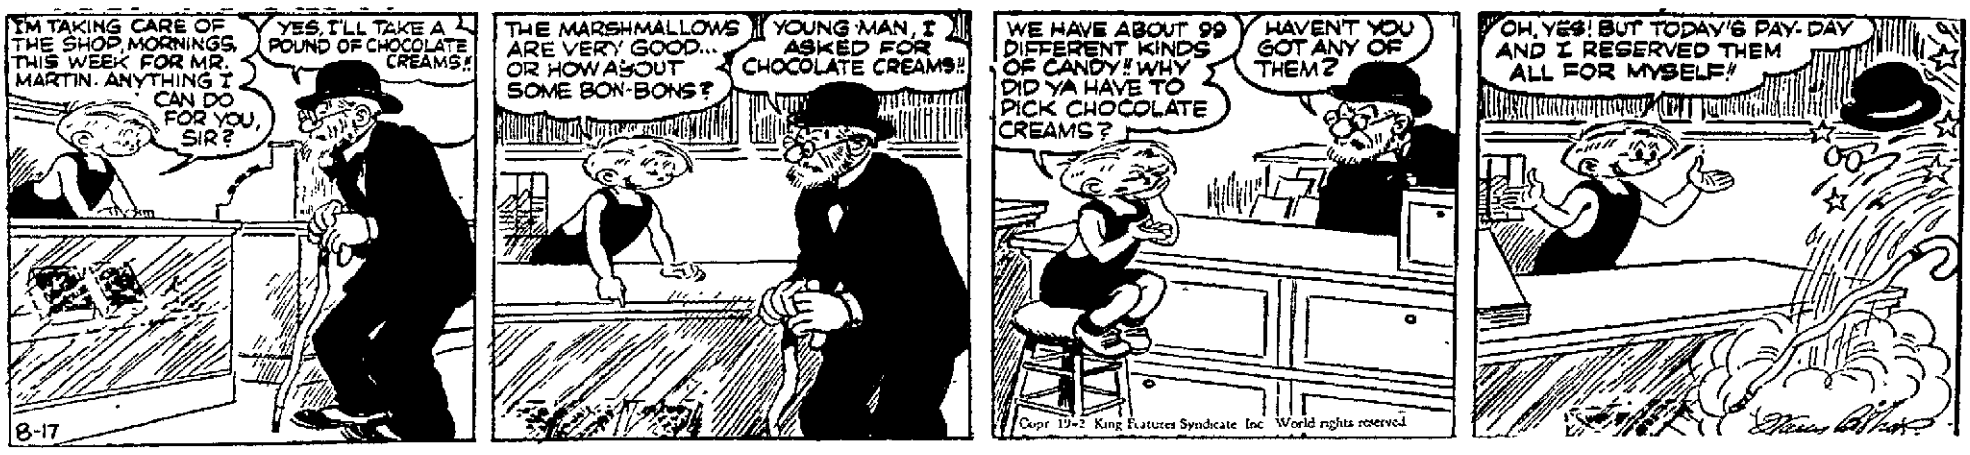
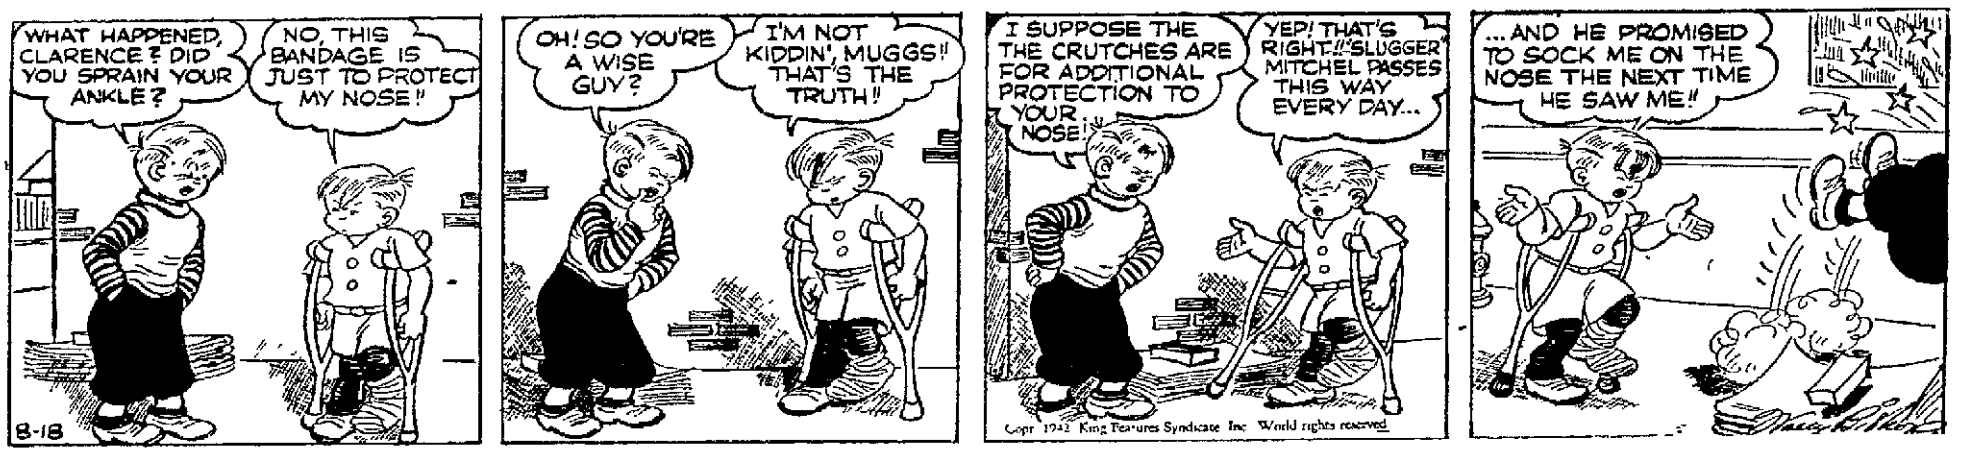
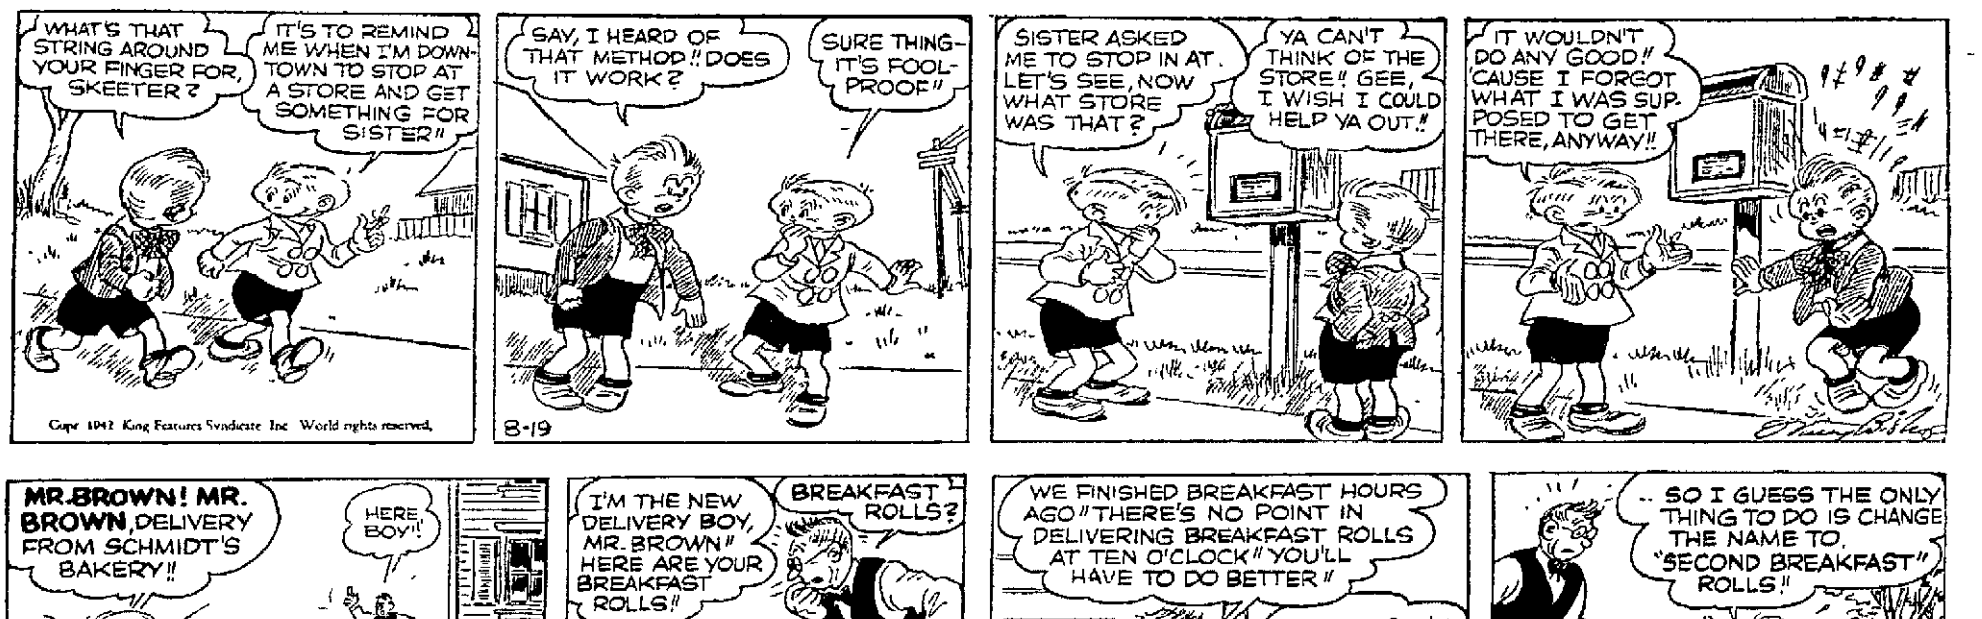
MUGGS McGINNIS



I'M TAKING CARE OF THE SHOP MORNINGS, THIS WEEK FOR MR. MARTIN. ANYTHING I CAN DO FOR YOU, SIR?
YES, I'LL TAKE A POUND OF CHOCOLATE CREAMS!
8-17
THE MARSHMALLOWS ARE VERY GOOD... OR HOW ABOUT SOME BON-BONS?
YOUNG MAN, I ASKED FOR CHOCOLATE CREAMS!!
WE HAVE ABOUT 99 DIFFERENT KINDS OF CANDY! WHY DID YA HAVE TO PICK CHOCOLATE CREAMS?
HAVEN'T YOU GOT ANY OF THEM?
Copr 1942 King Features Syndicate Inc World rights reserved
OH, YES! BUT TODAY'S PAY-DAY AND I RESERVED THEM ALL FOR MYSELF!



WHAT HAPPENED, CLARENCE? DID YOU SPRAIN YOUR ANKLE?
NO, THIS BANDAGE IS JUST TO PROTECT MY NOSE!
8-18
OH! SO YOU'RE A WISE GUY?
I'M NOT KIDDIN', MUGGS! THAT'S THE TRUTH!
I SUPPOSE THE THE CRUTCHES ARE FOR ADDITIONAL PROTECTION TO YOUR NOSE!
YEP! THAT'S RIGHT! "SLUGGER" MITCHEL PASSES THIS WAY EVERY DAY...
Copr 1942 King Features Syndicate Inc World rights reserved
...AND HE PROMISED TO SOCK ME ON THE NOSE THE NEXT TIME HE SAW ME!



WHAT'S THAT STRING AROUND YOUR FINGER FOR, SKEETER?
IT'S TO REMIND ME WHEN I'M DOWN-TOWN TO STOP AT A STORE AND GET SOMETHING FOR SISTER!!
Copr 1942 King Features Syndicate Inc World rights reserved.
SAY, I HEARD OF THAT METHOD!! DOES IT WORK?
SURE THING- IT'S FOOL-PROOF!!
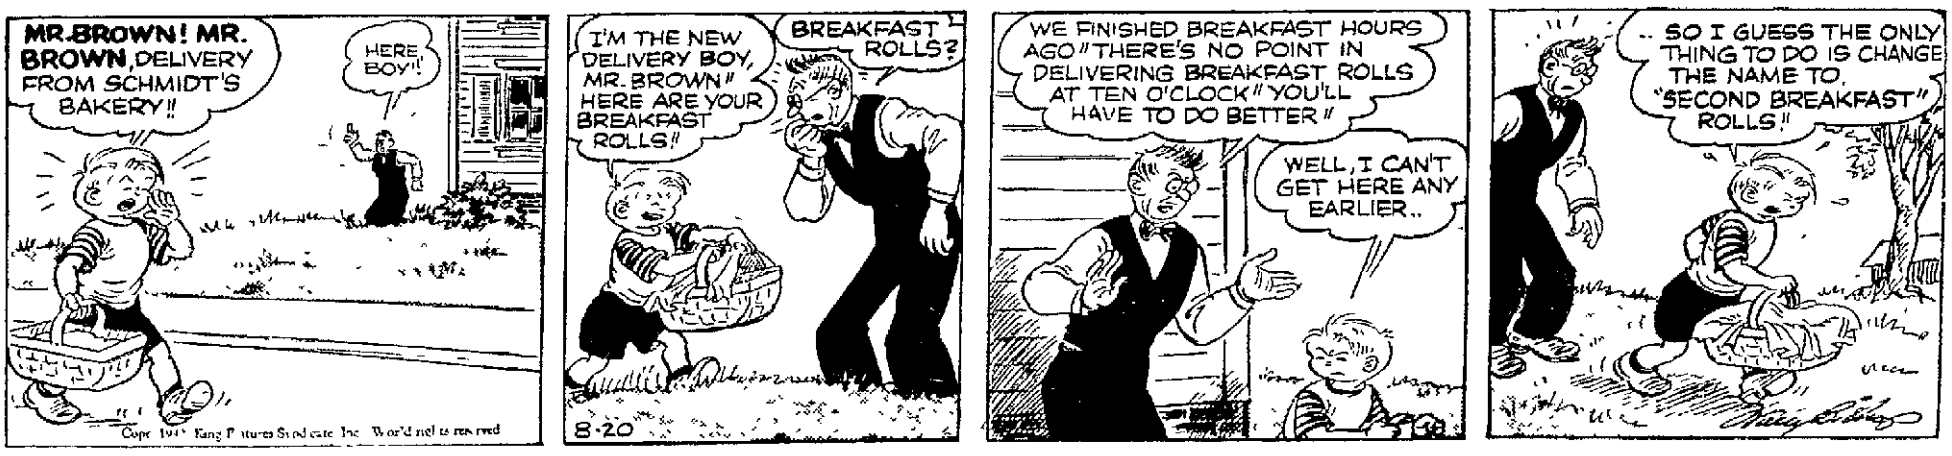
SISTER ASKED ME TO STOP IN AT. LET'S SEE, NOW WHAT STORE WAS THAT?
YA CAN'T THINK OF THE STORE!! GEE, I WISH I COULD HELP YA OUT!!
IT WOULDN'T DO ANY GOOD! 'CAUSE I FORGOT WHAT I WAS SUP-POSED TO GET THERE, ANYWAY!!



MR. BROWN! MR. BROWN, DELIVERY FROM SCHMIDT'S BAKERY!!
HERE BOY!!
Copr 1942 King Features Syndicate Inc World rights reserved
I'M THE NEW DELIVERY BOY, MR. BROWN" HERE ARE YOUR BREAKFAST ROLLS!!
BREAKFAST ROLLS?
WE FINISHED BREAKFAST HOURS AGO" THERE'S NO POINT IN DELIVERING BREAKFAST ROLLS AT TEN O'CLOCK" YOU'LL HAVE TO DO BETTER"
WELL, I CAN'T GET HERE ANY EARLIER..
.. SO I GUESS THE ONLY THING TO DO IS CHANGE THE NAME TO "SECOND BREAKFAST" ROLLS!

SAY, MUGGS, EFFIE HASN'T TOSSED ME A STRIKE YET!! I THINK SHE'S DELIBERATELY THROWIN' BAD BALLS!!
WHAT?-- AND A BIG GAME ON TOMORROW!!
SAY, WHAT'S THE IDEA OF NOT TRYIN' TO GET THE BALL OVER THE PLATE?
AH KNOWS WHAT AH'M A-DOIN'!
WELL, JUST WHAT ARE YA TRYIN' TO DO?
AH'VE BEEN READIN' 'BOUT BIG-LEAGUE PITCHERS AN' H'IT SEZ THEY PITCH MORE BALLS THAN STRIKES IN A GAME!!
Copr 1942 King Features Syndicate Inc World rights reserved
... SO AH FIGGERS EF AH GITS ALL TH' BALLS OUT OF MAH SYSTEM T'DAY, AH WON'T HEV ENYTHANG LEF' T'MORROW BUT STRIKES!!

GOSH, EFFIE, WHAT HAPPENED TO YOUR ARM?
SHUX!! T'AIN'T NAWTHIN'-- JEST SPRAINED, MAH WRIST!!
YOU'RE SUPPOSED TO PITCH THIS AFTERNOON AND YOU CALL A SPRAINED WRIST NOTHING--AND YOUR RIGHT WRIST, AT THAT!!
DON'T WORRY, THET GAME'S EZ GOOD EZ WON RIGHT NOW!!
Copr 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
BUT HOW? I SUPPOSE YOU'RE GOIN' TO TELL ME YOUR LEFT ARM IS JUST AS GOOD AS YOUR RIGHT!!
'COUNT OF H'ITS BETTER!! IN FACT, H'IT'S SO GOOD AH ALLUS SAVES H'IT FER EXTRY-SPECIAL OCCASIONS--SECH AS THIS!!

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

GLORYOSKY - MRS. RANCE IS THE NICEST OLD LADY I EVER SAW - SHE OWNS THIS BIG HOUSE, THE GARDEN AN' EVERYTHING
AN' SHE LIKES US - SHE SAID YOU AN' ME COULD REMAIN HERE AS HER GUESTS INDEFINITELY
DARRELL McCLURE
I LOOKED IN THE DICTIONARY AN' IT SEZ, "INDEFINITELY" MEANS A LONG TIME - GEE, BUT IT'S GRAND!
THERE, YOUR ROOM IS READY AT LAST - WOULD YOU BELIEVE IT, CHILD - THIS ROOM HAS BEEN LOCKED UP FOR ALMOST FORTY YEARS?
FORTY YEARS? AW, YOU'RE JUST FOOLIN' ME
THE HEAVENS FORBID! IT'S NO SUBJECT FOR FOOLIN' - YOU'LL HEAR THE STORY SOONER OR LATER — LISTEN — 8-18
- EVERYONE CALLS THIS OLD HOUSE, THE HAUNTED MANSION - AND IT IS HAUNTED -
HAUNTED?
YOU MEAN HAUNTED WITH GHOSTS??
NO, CHILD - IT'S HAUNTED WITH MEMORIES - BEAUTIFUL MEMORIES - HAPPY MEMORIES - BUT MOSTLY SAD, HEART-BREAKING MEMORIES OF SORROW, TRAGEDY AND MISFORTUNE -
???
DARRELL McCLURE
HONEST, ZERO - I FEEL AWFUL SORRY FOR MRS RANCE - SHE'S TERRIBLE RICH, BUT SHE FEELS AWFUL SAD ALL THE TIME -
DEBBY - MRS. RANCE'S MAID, TOLD ME MRS. RANCE HAS NEVER, NEVER LAFFED OR SMILED FOR ALMOST FORTY YEARS - IT'S NO USE HAVIN' LOTSA MONEY IF YOU CAN'T LAFF OR SMILE
DEBBY SEZ MRS. RANCE NEVER CRIES OR ACTS LIKE A BAWL-BABY - SHE JUST SITS IN HER ROOM - REMEMBERIN' THINGS SHE CAN'T FORGET -
DARRELL McCLURE
AN' SHE NEVER LEAVES HER ROOM - JUST STAYS THERE WAITIN' AN' WAITIN' FOR HER LITTLE LOST BABY BOY TO COME BACK
8-19
LOOK AT THE BRAZEN LITTLE CREATURE SNOOPING AROUND AS BOLD AS BRASS - AND IT'S ALL YOUR FAULT!!
BUT, MY DEAR, I -
SILENCE!! IF YOU HADN'T FORGOTTEN TO LOCK THE GATE, THAT HOMELESS, LITTLE VAGRANT WOULD NOT BE HERE -
DON'T START TO "BUT" AND "MY DEAR" ME! IT'S TOO LATE FOR YOUR EXCUSES - THE QUESTION IS, HOW CAN WE GET RID OF HER?
BUT -
DON'T PRETEND TO NOTICE IT, ZERO - BUT THE CARETAKER AND HIS WIFE ARE PEEKIN' AT US AGAIN - IT GIVES ME A CREEPY FEELIN' EVERY TIME I SEE 'EM PEEKIN' AT US
DARRELL McCLURE
GOOD MORNIN', ZERO - I KIN HARDLY SEE YOU, 'CAUSE I'M SO LITTLE AN' THIS FEATHER-BED IS SO AWFUL BIG
BUT A FEATHER-BED IS SWELL - IT'S JUST LIKE SLEEPIN' ON A CLOUD - SOFT AN' COMFY - AN' FRIENDLY-LIKE — 8-21
EVERY TIME I GO TO BED I THINK I'M GOIN' SWIMMIN' IN A LAKE FULL OF ANGEL FEATHERS -
THIS IS DEBBY'S NIGHT GOWN - IT'S KINDA BIG, BUT IT'S JUST LIKE A GARDEN FULL OF OLD FASHIONED FLOWERS AN' I JUST LOVE IT
DARRELL McCLURE
BLESS YOUR HEART, CHILD - OF COURSE, MRS. RANCE WILL LIKE YOUR WILD-FLOWERS - BUT DON'T FORGET WHAT I TOLD YOU ABOUT THE LOST BABY
OH, NO - I WON'T FORGET — WHEN MRS. RANCE SEZ MAYBE HER LOST BABY WILL COME BACK TODAY - I ALWAYS SAY, "MAYBE IT WILL" -
'COURSE, I KNOW IF THE BABY WAS LOST ALMOST FORTY YEARS AGO, IT WOULD BE A GREAT, BIG, GROWN-UP MAN NOW - BUT WHEN I TALK TO MRS. RANCE, I PRETEND WE'RE PLAYIN' A GAME -
I LIKE TO PRETEND THINGS — SOMETIMES I PRETEND I'VE GOT A FATHER AN' MOTHER, JUST LIKE SOME LUCKY KIDS HAVE - IT MAKES ME FEEL GLAD ALL OVER - EVEN THOUGH I'M ONLY PRETENDIN'
